Web504 Project Proposal

Executive Summary

Faucette Micro Systems proposes to build a new 504 Plan web-based system for the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD.) The program would be based upon many of the design ideas found today in our WebIEP 2.0 product that OUSD Programs for Exceptional Children currently uses. Many of the same processes used in WebIEP would be modified to work for 504 plans. Thus the project would be built faster because it would not be a ground up new effort, but would utilize some existing modules, and modification of others. We expect the program could be ready for use in about a sixty to ninety day period from authorization to proceed.

The new program would tentatively be called Web504.

Program Features

The new Web504 would have a similar look and feel to the WebIEP program, and share many of the same concepts. These features include:

- Data entry to screen forms that match paper form layout
- Forms generated as PDF files for printing
- History of Completed 504 plans stored online
- Web-based access from Internet browsers such as IE, Firefox, and Safari
- Validations to insure the minimum requirements for a 504 plan are met
- A team approach to data entry
- Import of Demographic data from District Student Information System
- User authentication to OUSD Active Directory Domain
- Multiple security levels possible, so users can be restricted to just their site or individual students.

We'll briefly review the proposed program features here in the following paragraphs.

Data Entry

The approach to implementing the 504 data entry is to closely follow the layout of the paper forms to a HTML input screen. We have found that system users are much more receptive to using an online system if it closely follows the paper forms with which they are already familiar. This has proven successful in our WebIEP 2.0 product. Further, we implement the data entry forms on a page by page basis, with a navigation bar on the left side of the screen, that permits the user to change input pages with one click.

Printing

Forms printing is accomplished via the generation of a standard PDF file, that can be previewed online in Acrobat Reader, and easily printed from there if desired.

We also have the concept in our system of a Draft Print vs. a Final Print. Before a 504 plan is finalized, it will be printed with a watermark on each page indicating it is a Draft document. Upon completion of all required fields (and passing a Validation Step) the 504 plan then can be printed with the draft watermark removed.

History

Completion of the 504 plan permits the Meeting coordinator or team leader to file the 504 documents to an online history within the system. Once filed to history, the 504 PDF document is stored in a database file. And the data that produced the 504 plan is "locked" so that it cannot be readily changed by users. The history is accessible to all authorized users to read at that point. But the student's plan cannot be readily changed without reopening the student records and specifying a reason for modifying the plan data.

Web-based Access

Since the system would be developed as a web-based database system, it means the system is available from school sites, as well as access by teachers from home using a standard Internet browser. We support such standard browsers as Internet Explorer 7 and higher, Firefox 2.0 and higher, and Safari 2.0 and higher.

Validation Process

One of the necessary steps we find in completion of IEP documents is to insure that all required fields for a student's IEP have been addressed before the document can be considered complete. The same logic can be employed for the Web504 system as well. The system users would be required to pass the validation process before they could print a final copy of the 504 plan, and file it to history within the system.

The validation process is straightforward and intuitive. Links are provided in the error list to take the user back to the form with the error, as well as a description of what the error is, and why it needs to be corrected.

We have a flexible architecture when it comes to this validation step. We can create as many validation rules as needed, or as few as needed. All our validation rules are stored in a table, and this gives us flexibility to add or remove validations without having to make program modifications. Individual validation rules can even be turned off, if necessary, by the system administrator if the validation rule is not working as expected. Later, it can be corrected and re-enabled by our firm when the validation problem is resolved.

Team Data Entry

The Web504 system would be designed for a team approach to data entry. Once a 504 plan is begun, the plan would be available online for other team members to submit their sections of the plan, and to review what others have written as well.

User Security And Authentication

In the WebIEP module, we have security controlled by security privileges. Also we have the concept of groups, and privileges to complete most operations are controlled at the group level. Examples of privileges we have in WebIEP right now are:

- To begin a new IEP document / plan
- To complete a plan and file it to History
- Update a student's plan, or to just view it
- Limiting the students that can be accessed to those of one site, or to just a defined caseload of students
- A District-wide view of students
- System Administrator privileges

We see that similar privileges can be established for 504 plans, as there are similar needs to grant and restrict access.

For user authentication, we can employ a feature we have recently developed where the Web504 user name and password are shared with the OUSD Microsoft Active Directory system. Authentication using existing District user name and password means we do not need a separate user name and password combination for use of Web504. The only requirement is to create a user (usually just one time) in the system that matches the user's District login name. We don't store the user's password in this model, as that is just passed through and authenticated against the Active Directory system.

All logins to the system, as well as the students that are accessed by a user, are logged within the system for audit purposes. These logs of activity are available to the system administrator for review.

Interfacing with District SIS

We have a feature in WebIEP that we intend to implement in Web504, where basic Student Demographic information can be imported from a District Student Information System (SIS.) We have a separate database known as "AllStudents" which would be updated nightly from a district's SIS system. In the case of OUSD, this is the Aeries system. From this AllStudents database, both WebIEP and Web504 can receive current demographic information.

The process to import student demographic data is not live at this moment at OUSD, but we expect that it should be active within about 30 days. This should be well within the time line of implementation of the Web504 system.

System Training

Our usual model for training users in our system is a "train the trainers" model. It is usually not practical for us to train each user on the system directly, due to distance limitations and costs. We find it very valuable to train the key people who will administer the system, and also a group of teachers who will act as trainers to others on the system. Also, it would be helpful to have a trainer on the 504 system at each school site, but this may not be practical in every case. But it does make it easier for getting new users onboard with using the system, they have someone to consult with at their particular school site.

Web and Database Server

Since this project involves a web-based application and database, there is always the question of provision of hardware and software licenses to implement the system. We anticipate the system will be housed on the same hardware that the WebIEP system currently utilizes. This is a server managed by the OUSD Technology Department, and housed in the District Data Center. Some of the project costs are able to be kept down as we do not anticipate a separate web server and database server are required. If we combine this system on the same server as PEC now uses, we do not have to purchase additional software licenses which could add several thousand dollars of additional costs to the project proposal.

If at a later date the desire was to have a separate web server from PEC, then this could be accomplished easily. However, at that point, new licenses for the database engine and report writer software employed on the system would be required.

Project Cost

We have included a quote here for the system cost of $23,000 for initial start up and training on the system. We have included time to modify the database and framework of WebIEP to fit the 504 Plan model. This involves some screen changes and database changes. Also, we quoted implementation of 12 forms. This number may go up or down, depending on your actual requirements. Form and screen programming usually runs $950 per page; however, forms which have complex printing requirements may incur additional costs.

Also included in the Project Proposal is for two days of onsite training. We're suggesting one day for end user training (training of trainers) and one day for system administration and setup. The training is flexible, so more training could be added if desired.

Timeline for Project

The programming team at Faucette Micro Systems could begin work on this project within approximately 30 days from receipt of a purchase order. We expect a development timeline would likely be about 60 days in length.

About Us

FMS has grown into a custom software provider in recent years, developing specialized software for businesses and enterprises in the western United States.

In 1998, Faucette Micro Systems, Inc. took over the development of the "SELPA System I" software used by California Special Education Local Planning Areas (SELPA's). After developing a viable and stable system for tracking California Special Education students, FMS broadened its scope and developed an innovative and user-friendly web-based Individual Education Program (IEP) system. Integrated with SELPA System II, the WebIEP software is a forward-thinking idea for IEP creation and maintenance.

Teaming up with SteDell (DKY Consulting) has further amplified the incredible usefulness and innovative quality of WebIEP and promises in the future to take Faucette Micro Systems, Inc. to the top of the Special Education software market.
