Subject Curriculum Adoption for 10th-12th grade Social Studies Curriculum

- Teacher Curriculum Institute: New Social Studies/History curriculum

Ask of the Board Adoption by the Board of Education of Resolution No. 2324-0019: Selection and purchase of the following curricular materials:
Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI) for High School History/Social Studies courses, grades 10-12.

Background Need for Updated Social Studies Curriculum

Providing teachers and students equitable access to high-quality, standards-based instructional materials is a responsibility of the school district and a central component of OUSD’s strategy to build coherent instructional systems that improve student outcomes, particularly for students from marginalized communities. To meet the strategic plan goal of guaranteeing literacy by 3rd grade and beyond, OUSD has adopted and implemented high-quality materials in elementary and middle school in recent years. Providing this curriculum with aligned professional development and coaching has created greater alignment across schools and access to grade-level, standards-based learning.

In high school, the last curriculum adoption for social studies courses occurred in 2007. To support our students in developing reading, writing and critical thinking skills needed for college, career and community, we must provide our teachers with high-quality, relevant and engaging curriculum and the ongoing professional development and coaching they need to effectively use the materials.

Defining High-Quality Literacy Instruction in OUSD: HS Language and Literacy Framework

During the 2022-23 school year members of the Academics department with feedback from teachers across grade-levels developed the K-12 Social Studies framework. The group worked together to utilize their expertise, personal experience as classroom teachers and the district's mission and vision to outline a shared framework that emphasizes Responsive Content, Inquiry, Literacy, Civic Engagement with the use of Equitable Practices. The K-12 Social Studies framework calls out the need to disrupt deficit thinking, leverage cultural and linguistic assets, nurturing and empowering narrative, and centers evidence based tasks at its core. Drafting this framework and rethinking how we teach social studies at the secondary level warrants an update not just in the resources used in the classroom, but most importantly a shift in our instructional practices that are student centered to elevate student voices in class discussions and aimed at exposing students to grade appropriate reading, writing and tasks to give them practice to master 21st century skill necessary for their lives after high school.

As the process of identifying a new curriculum for high school history social studies classes began in the summer and fall of 2022, the three core components of the TK-12 History Social Studies Framework became the initial criteria used to assess the quality of history/social studies programs.

Discussion

Selection Process

District leaders in the department of Academics in partnership with high school social studies teacher leaders have concluded a year and a half process of instructional materials review and piloting with extensive participation from OUSD teachers and principals, central office personnel as well as members of the community.

The High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee, composed of a group of teachers and central leaders representing different areas, began work in Fall 2022 to review and identify materials that would best support OUSD high school students in engaging in rigorous and relevant social studies instruction throughout the district. The committee's review was based on evaluation of printed and online materials against local criteria determined through student and teacher engagements, as well as expert reviews of curricula under consideration. In Spring 2023, the committee recommended classroom-based piloting of instructional units for the two finalist curricula: Teachers Curriculum Institute (TCI) and Pearson's Savvas MyWorld Interactive.

15 teachers representing 7 high schools participated in piloting starting in fall of 2023. The teachers piloted 2 lessons from suggested units and met regularly to compare unit design and outcomes based on their experience.

The Adoption Committee included piloting teachers, as well as representation from ELLMA, Office of Equity, SPED, Linked Learning, and content experts. Additional stakeholder input came from over 700 piloting students, parents, site administration, and content coaches.

In January 2024, the final deliberation brought together piloting teachers and adoption committee members to weigh all feedback collected and come to a consensus on recommendation.

Fiscal Impact

The funding for the cost of instructional materials and professional learning will be from LCFF Supplemental & Concentration Carryover and annually from CA State Lottery Funds. The total cost for the purchase of curriculum and the associated professional learning, illustrated below, is $1,125,462.00.

We hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of a Resolution passed at a Regular Meeting of the Board of Education of the Oakland Unified School District, held on April 24, 2024.

OAKLAND UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Secretary, Board of Education

SERVICES AGREEMENT

This Services Agreement (“AGREEMENT”) is a legally binding contract entered into between the Oakland Unified School District (“OUSD”) and the entity or individual (“VENDOR,” together with OUSD, “PARTIES”) named in Exhibit A, attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference. Unless otherwise stated herein, “VENDOR INDIVIDUAL” includes (to the extent they exist): VENDOR Board members, officers, trustees, and directors; VENDOR employees, agents, consultants, contractors and subcontractors, representatives, and other similar individuals; and volunteers and others unpaid persons under VENDOR’s direction, invitation, or control.

The PARTIES hereby agree as follows:

1. Services. VENDOR shall provide the services (“SERVICES”) as described in Exhibit A.
2. Term. The term (“TERM”) of this AGREEMENT is established in Exhibit A.
3. Compensation.
 - a. Over the TERM, OUSD agrees to pay VENDOR the amount of money stated in Exhibit A for satisfactorily performing the SERVICES. OUSD shall not pay and shall not be liable to VENDOR for any costs or expenses paid or incurred by VENDOR not described in Exhibit A.
 - b. Compensation for SERVICES performed outside of the TERM (e.g., prior to execution of this AGREEMENT or after its termination) shall be at OUSD’s sole discretion and in an amount solely determined by OUSD. VENDOR agrees that it shall not expect or demand compensation for the performance of such SERVICES.
 - c. VENDOR acknowledges and agrees not to expect or demand compensation for any SERVICES performed prior to the PARTIES, particularly OUSD, validly and properly executing this AGREEMENT and VENDOR shall not rely on verbal or written communication from any individual, other than the OUSD Superintendent or the OUSD Legal Counsel, stating that OUSD has validly and properly executed this AGREEMENT.
 - d. Payment for SERVICES shall be made for all undisputed amounts no more frequently than in monthly installment payments within sixty (60) days after VENDOR submits an invoice to OUSD, in accordance with Paragraph 4 (Invoicing), for the SERVICES actually performed and after OUSD’s written approval that the SERVICES were actually performed. The granting of any payment by OUSD, or the receipt thereof by VENDOR, shall in no way lessen the liability of VENDOR to correct unsatisfactory performance of SERVICES, even if the unsatisfactory character of the performance was not apparent or detected at the time a payment was made. If OUSD determines that VENDOR’s performance does not conform to the requirements of this AGREEMENT, VENDOR agrees to correct its performance without delay.

4. Invoicing. Invoices furnished by VENDOR under this AGREEMENT must be in a form acceptable to OUSD.
 - a. All amounts paid by OUSD shall be subject to audit by OUSD. Invoices shall include, without limitation: VENDOR name, VENDOR address, invoice date, invoice number, purchase order number, name of school or department to which the SERVICES were provided, name(s) of the person(s) performing the SERVICES, date(s) the SERVICES were performed, brief description of the SERVICES provided on each date, total invoice amount, and the basis for the total invoice amount (e.g., if hourly rate, the number of hours on each date and the rate for those hours).
 - b. If OUSD, at its sole discretion, determines an invoice fails to include the required elements, OUSD will not pay the invoice and will inform VENDOR of the missing items; VENDOR shall resubmit an invoice that includes the required elements before OUSD will pay the invoice.
 - c. Invoices must be submitted no more frequently than monthly, and within 30 days of the conclusion of the applicable billing period. OUSD reserves the right to refuse to pay untimely invoices.
 - d. OUSD reserves the right to add or change invoicing requirements. If OUSD does add or change invoicing requirements, it shall notify VENDOR in writing and the new or modified requirements shall be mandatory upon receipt by VENDOR of such notice.
 - e. To the extent that VENDOR has described how the SERVICES may be provided both in-person and not in-person, VENDOR's invoices shall—in addition to any invoice requirement added or changed under subparagraph (d)—indicate whether the SERVICES were provided in-person or not.
 - f. All invoices furnished by VENDOR under this AGREEMENT shall be delivered to OUSD via email unless OUSD requests, in writing, a different method of delivery.

5. Suspension. If OUSD, at its sole discretion, develops health and safety concerns related to VENDOR's provision of SERVICES, then the OUSD Superintendent or an OUSD Chief may, upon approval by OUSD legal counsel, issue a notice to VENDOR to suspend this AGREEMENT, in which case VENDOR shall stop providing SERVICES under this AGREEMENT until further notice from OUSD. OUSD shall compensate VENDOR for the SERVICES satisfactorily provided through the date of suspension.

6. Termination. Upon termination consistent with this Paragraph (Termination), VENDOR shall provide OUSD with all materials produced, maintained, or collected by VENDOR pursuant to this AGREEMENT, whether or not such materials are complete or incomplete or are in final or draft form.
 - a. For Convenience by OUSD. OUSD may at any time terminate this AGREEMENT upon thirty (30) days prior written notice to VENDOR. OUSD shall compensate VENDOR for SERVICES satisfactorily provided through the date of termination. Upon approval by OUSD legal counsel, the OUSD Superintendent or an OUSD Chief may issue the termination notice without prior approval by the OUSD Governing Board, in which case this AGREEMENT would terminate upon ratification of the termination by the OUSD Governing Board or thirty (30) days after the notice was provided, whichever is later. VENDOR shall immediately stop providing SERVICES upon receipt of the termination notice from the OUSD Superintendent or OUSD Chief.

- b. For Cause. Either PARTY may terminate this AGREEMENT by giving written notice of its intention to terminate for cause to the other PARTY. Written notice shall contain the reasons for such intention to terminate, which shall include (i) material violation of this AGREEMENT or (ii) if either PARTY is adjudged bankrupt, makes a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, or a receiver is appointed on account of its insolvency. Upon approval by OUSD legal counsel, the OUSD Superintendent or an OUSD Chief may issue the termination notice without prior approval by the OUSD Governing Board, in which case this AGREEMENT would terminate upon ratification of the termination by the OUSD Governing Board or three (3) days after the notice was provided, whichever is later, unless the condition or violation ceases or satisfactory arrangements for its correction are made. VENDOR shall immediately stop providing SERVICES upon receipt of the termination notice from the OUSD Superintendent or OUSD Chief.
- c. Due to Unforeseen Emergency or Acts of God. Notwithstanding any other language of this AGREEMENT, if there is an unforeseen emergency or an Act of God during the TERM that would prohibit or limit, at the sole discretion of OUSD, the ability of VENDOR to perform the SERVICES, OUSD may terminate this AGREEMENT upon seven (7) days prior written notice to VENDOR. The OUSD Governing Board may issue this type of termination notice or the OUSD Superintendent, upon approval by OUSD legal counsel, may issue this type of the termination notice without the need for approval or ratification by the OUSD Governing Board. VENDOR shall immediately stop providing SERVICES upon receipt of the termination notice from the OUSD Superintendent.
- d. Due to Failure to Ratify by OUSD Board. If, consistent with Paragraph 41 (Signature Authority), this AGREEMENT is executed on behalf of OUSD by the signature of the Superintendent, a Chief, a Deputy Chief, or an Executive Director, and the Board thereafter declines to ratify this AGREEMENT, this AGREEMENT shall automatically terminate on the date that the Board declines to ratify it. OUSD shall compensate VENDOR for the SERVICES satisfactorily provided through the date of termination.

7. Data and Information Requests.

- a. VENDOR shall timely provide OUSD with any data and information OUSD reasonably requests related to the provision of the SERVICES.
- b. VENDOR shall register with and maintain current information within OUSD's Community Partner database unless OUSD communicates to VENDOR in writing otherwise, based on OUSD's determination that the SERVICES are not related to community school outcomes. If and when VENDOR's programs and school site(s) change (either midyear or in subsequent years), VENDOR shall promptly update the information in the database.

8. Confidentiality and Data Privacy.

- a. OUSD may share information with VENDOR pursuant to this AGREEMENT in order to further the purposes thereof. VENDOR and VENDOR INDIVIDUALS shall maintain the confidentiality of all information received in the course of performing the SERVICES, provided such information is (i) marked or identified as “confidential” or “privileged,” or (ii) reasonably understood to be confidential or privileged.
- b. VENDOR understands that student data is confidential. VENDOR or VENDOR INDIVIDUALS may only access or receive identifiable student data, other than directory information, in connection with this AGREEMENT only after VENDOR and OUSD execute (i) a California Student Data Privacy Agreement (“CSDPA”) or CSDPA Exhibit E, if VENDOR is a software vendor, or (ii) the OUSD Data Sharing Agreement, if VENDOR is not a software vendor. Notwithstanding Paragraph 24 (Indemnification), should VENDOR or VENDOR INDIVIDUALS access or receive identifiable student data, other than directory information, without first executing such an agreement, VENDOR shall be solely liable for any and all claims or losses resulting from its access or receipt of such data.
- c. All confidentiality requirements, including those set forth in the separate data sharing agreement, extend beyond the termination of this AGREEMENT.

9. Copyright/Trademark/Patent/Ownership. VENDOR understands and agrees that all matters produced under this AGREEMENT, excluding any intellectual property that existed prior to execution of this AGREEMENT, shall be works for hire as defined under Title 17 of the United States Code, and all copyrights in those works are the property of OUSD. These matters include, without limitation, drawings, plans, specifications, studies, reports, memoranda, computation sheets, the contents of computer diskettes, artwork, copy, posters, billboards, photographs, videotapes, audiotapes, systems designs, software, reports, diagrams, surveys, source codes or any other original works of authorship, or other documents prepared by VENDOR in connection with the SERVICES performed under this AGREEMENT. VENDOR cannot use, reproduce, distribute, publicly display, perform, alter, remix, or build upon matters produced under this AGREEMENT without OUSD’s express written permission. OUSD shall have all right, title and interest in said matters, including the right to register the copyright, trademark, and/or patent of said matter in the name of OUSD. OUSD may, with VENDOR’s prior written consent, use VENDOR’s name in conjunction with the sale, use, performance and distribution of the matters, for any purpose and in any medium.

10. Alignment and Evaluation.

- a. VENDOR agrees to work and communicate with OUSD staff, both formally and informally, to ensure that the SERVICES are aligned with OUSD's mission and are meeting the needs of students as determined by OUSD.
 - b. OUSD may evaluate VENDOR or VENDOR INDIVIDUALS in any reasonable manner which is permissible under the law. OUSD's evaluation may include, without limitation: (i) requesting that OUSD employee(s) evaluate the performance of VENDOR or VENDOR INDIVIDUALS, and (ii) announced and unannounced observance of VENDOR or VENDOR INDIVIDUALS.
11. Inspection and Approval. VENDOR agrees that OUSD has the right and agrees to provide OUSD with the opportunity to inspect any and all aspects of the SERVICES performed including, but not limited to, any materials (physical or electronic) produced, created, edited, modified, reviewed, or otherwise used in the preparation, performance, or evaluation of the SERVICES. In accordance with Paragraph 3 (Compensation), the SERVICES performed by VENDOR must meet the approval of OUSD, and OUSD reserves the right to direct VENDOR to redo the SERVICES, in whole or in part, if OUSD, in its sole discretion, determines that the SERVICES were not performed in accordance with this AGREEMENT.
12. Equipment and Materials. VENDOR shall provide all equipment, materials, and supplies necessary for the performance of this AGREEMENT.
13. Legal Notices. Based on contact information set forth in Exhibit A, all legal notices provided for under this AGREEMENT shall be sent: (i) via email, (ii) personally delivered during normal business hours, or (iii) sent by U.S. Mail (certified, return receipt requested) with postage prepaid to the other PARTY. Notice shall be effective when received if personally served or emailed or, if mailed, three days after mailing. Either PARTY must give written notice of a change of mailing address or email.

- a. VENDOR represents and warrants that VENDOR and all VENDOR INDIVIDUALS have the necessary and sufficient experience, qualifications, and ability to perform the SERVICES in a professional manner, without the advice, control or supervision of OUSD. Coverage for corporal punishment, sexual misconduct, and harassment may either be provided through General Liability Insurance or Professional Liability Insurance. The coverage shall be primary as to OUSD and shall name OUSD as an additional insured with the additional insured endorsement provided to OUSD within 15 days of effective date of this AGREEMENT (and within 15 days of each new policy year thereafter during the TERM). Evidence of insurance shall be attached to this AGREEMENT or otherwise provided to OUSD upon request. Endorsement of OUSD as an additional insured shall not affect OUSD's rights to any claim, demand, suit or judgment made, brought or recovered against VENDOR. The policy shall protect VENDOR and OUSD in the same manner as though each were separately issued. Nothing in said policy shall operate to increase the Insurer's liability as set forth in the policy beyond the amount or amounts shown or to which the Insurer would have been liable if only one interest were named as an insured. The requirements of this subparagraph may be specifically waived as noted in Exhibit A.
 - b. Workers' Compensation Insurance. VENDOR shall procure and maintain, at all times during the TERM of this AGREEMENT, Workers' Compensation Insurance in conformance with the laws of the State of California (including, but not limited to, Labor Code section 3700) and Federal laws when applicable. The requirements of this subparagraph may be specifically waived as noted in Exhibit A.
18. Testing and Screening.
 - a. Tuberculosis Screening. VENDOR shall ensure that all VENDOR INDIVIDUALS who will be working at OUSD sites for more than six hours in total during the TERM or who work with students (regardless of the length of time) have submitted to a tuberculosis risk assessment as required by Education Code section 49406 within the prior 60 days. If tuberculosis risk factors were identified for a VENDOR INDIVIDUAL, that VENDOR INDIVIDUAL must submit to an intradermal or other approved tuberculosis examination to determine if that VENDOR INDIVIDUAL is free of infectious tuberculosis. If the results of the examination are positive, VENDOR shall obtain an x-ray of the lungs. VENDOR, at its discretion, may choose to submit a VENDOR INDIVIDUAL to the examination instead of the risk assessment. The requirements of this subparagraph may be specifically waived as noted in Exhibit A.

- b. Fingerprinting/Criminal Background Investigation. For all VENDOR INDIVIDUALS providing the SERVICES, VENDOR shall ensure completion of fingerprinting and criminal background investigation and shall request and regularly review subsequent arrest records. VENDOR confirms that no VENDOR INDIVIDUAL providing the SERVICES has been convicted of a felony, as that term is defined in Education Code section 45122.1. VENDOR shall provide the results of the investigations and subsequent arrest notifications to OUSD. For purposes of this subparagraph, VENDOR shall use either California Department of Justice or Be A Mentor, Inc. (<http://beamentor.org/OUSDPartner>) finger-printing and subsequent arrest notification services. The requirements of this subparagraph may be specifically waived as noted in Exhibit A.

19. Incident/Accident/Mandated Reporting.

- a. VENDOR shall notify OUSD, via email pursuant to Paragraph 13 (Legal Notices), within twelve (12) hours of learning of any significant accident or incident in connection with the provision of the SERVICES. Examples of a significant accident or incident include, without limitation, an accident or incident that involves law enforcement, or possible or alleged criminal activity, or possible or actual exposure to a communicable disease such as COVID-19. VENDOR shall properly submit required accident or incident reports within one business day pursuant to the procedures specified by OUSD. VENDOR shall bear all costs of compliance with this Paragraph.
- b. To the extent that a VENDOR INDIVIDUAL is included on the list of mandated reporters found in Penal Code section 11165.7, VENDOR agrees to inform that VENDOR INDIVIDUAL, in writing, that they are a mandated reporter, and describing the associated obligations to report suspected cases of abuse and neglect pursuant to Penal Code section 11166.5.

20. Health and Safety Orders and Requirements; Site Closures.

- a. VENDOR shall adhere to any health or safety orders or requirements issued at the time of the execution of this AGREEMENT or in the future by OUSD or other public entities (“Orders”).
- b. Except as possibly stated otherwise in Exhibit A, VENDOR is able to meet its obligations and perform the SERVICES required pursuant to this AGREEMENT in accordance with any Order; to the extent that VENDOR becomes unable to do so, VENDOR shall immediately inform OUSD in writing.

Executive Summary

In summer 2022, the Academics & Instruction team and the high school history social studies community were charged with selecting instructional materials for adoption across OUSD 10-12 history/social studies classrooms. The High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee, composed of a group of teachers and central leaders representing different areas, began work in Fall 2022 to review and identify materials that would best support OUSD high school students in engaging in rigorous and relevant social studies instruction throughout the district. The committee's review was based on evaluation of printed and online materials against local criteria determined through student and teacher engagements, as well as expert reviews of curricula under consideration. In Spring 2023, the committee recommended classroom-based piloting of instructional units for the two finalist curricula: Savvas MyWorld Interactive, and Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI).

In the first semester of 2023, 14 teachers representing 9 of our high schools participated in the curriculum pilot, with each classroom piloting one or two of the curricula in consideration. In January 2024, pilot teachers voted to recommend TCI as the adopted high school history social studies curriculum. The newly adopted curriculum will be rolled out over the next three years, with 10th grade courses starting the curriculum in fall 2024. An Implementation Committee with teachers from across our high school programs will support roll-out planning.

2022-23 Materials Review

Context of the materials review

In 2007, Oakland Unified adopted social studies materials from three different publishers; 10th grade: World History: The Modern World c. 2007 (Pearson), 11th Grade: US History: American Anthem (Holt Rinehart, Winston) 12th Grade: Magruder's American Government c.2007 (Pearson) and 12th Grade: Contemporary Economics c. 2007 (Thomson) as the core history/social studies curriculum for high schools. Since that time, the Common Core State Standards for history social studies were adopted, which called for shifts in the way history/social studie is taught, in order to support students to be College and Career ready. There has not been an adoption of new materials since the adoption of the CCSS, and survey data from 10-12 history/social studies teachers in Fall 2022 showed that over 60% of teachers who completed the survey primarily used curricular materials that they developed themselves, in collaboration with colleagues or found on the Internet. Only 4.5% of teachers reported using the textbook for all units, with no teachers saying it was their primary social studies resource.

In the last few years, a wide array of CCSS-aligned curriculum has been made available from commercial publishers. The California State Board of Education, which has adopted social studies programs for K-8, has not adopted instructional materials for 10-12, giving local educational agencies the authority and responsibility to adopt instructional materials for use in high schools.

During the 2022-23 school year members of the Academics and Innovation department with feedback from teachers across grade-levels developed the K-12 social studies framework. The group worked together to utilize their expertise, personal experience as classroom teachers and the district's mission and vision to outline a shared framework that emphasizes Responsive Content, Inquiry, Literacy, Civic Engagement with the use of Equitable Practices. The K-12 social studies framework calls out the need to disrupt deficit thinking, leverage cultural and linguistic assets, nurturing and empowering narrative, and centers evidence based tasks at its core. Drafting this framework and rethinking how we teach social studies at the secondary level warrants an update not just in the resources used in the classroom, but most importantly a shift in our instructional practices that are student centered and aimed at exposing students to grade appropriate reading, writing and tasks to give them practice to master 21st century skills necessary for their lives after high school.

In this context, the Academics team was charged with leading an Instructional Materials Review in Summer 2022. As the process of identifying a new curriculum for high school social studies classes began in the summer and fall of 2022, the three core components of the K-12 Social studies Framework became the initial criteria used to assess the quality of history/social studies programs.

Materials Review Process and Timeline

The Academics team began engaging the Oakland Unified high school Social Studies community around adopting materials for high school courses in fall 2022. Working under the charge to make a curriculum recommendation to the Superintendent and Board of Education in time for adoption and purchase for use starting in fall 2024, the Academics team solicited applications from teachers to join a High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee and began surveying district stakeholders about what they most wanted in an adopted primary Social Studies resource. What follows is a timeline of stakeholder engagements in this materials review process.

Committee Membership

The Academics team received 10 applications from teachers to be on the High School Curriculum Adoption Committee for the initial materials review. All applicants were invited to join the committee, but not all were able to join given time conflicts. The 8-member committee included social studies teachers from Skyline, Oakland Tech, McClymonds, Fremont, Rudsdale and Ralph Bunche high schools.

The Academics team structured the process to focus on establishing criteria for 10-12 Social Studies curriculum and reviewing printed and online materials against these criteria in 2022-23, and a shift to piloting materials in the fall of 2023.

Establishing Criteria for Review

To establish criteria against which to evaluate materials, the committee drew from surveys of teachers, site and central office leaders, and students about the features they valued in instructional materials, as well as the Social Studies and Literacy Framework.

Teacher and Admin Survey Data

22 teachers responded to the survey, identifying how important different criteria were to them in curriculum selection.

The top 3 priorities for teachers were:

1. Access to primary and secondary sources (86% ranked very important)
2. Opportunities to engage students at a high level (86% ranked very important)
3. Cultural relevance (81% ranked very important)

Criteria for Evaluating Materials

Using data from the surveys and other engagements, and the High School Language and Literacy Framework, the committee organized criteria into four categories for evaluation:

- Meaningful Student Engagement
- Inquiry
- Skillful Language and Literacy Instruction

- Curriculum Usability, Design and Flexibility
- Access to primary and secondary sources
- Citizenship
- Usability
- Transformational Social Emotional Learning

Evaluation of Materials

The Committee began with an initial list of 7 curricula, identified through EdReports.org, discussions with surrounding districts, and programs that teachers had used or were interested in exploring. The curricula on the initial list for review were:

1. Gale National Geographic
2. Savvas MyWorld Interactive
3. Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI)
4. NewsELA
5. McGraw Hill
6. Document Based Question Project
7. Facing History and Ourselves.

Vendor Review Process

In order to provide committee members with baseline information related to the above programs in consideration, and potentially eliminate programs that did not deserve to be considered for a pilot, the social studies coordinator provided the steering committee with a high school social studies curriculum rubric. This rubric was created with input from history teacher leaders as a standard against which to compare curricula. Teacher leaders synthesized the criteria from their knowledge of the 2016 CA History-Social Science Framework. It represents our OUSD hopes for a high quality, framework-aligned curriculum adoption that meets the needs of our diverse students and supports teachers in their long term and daily planning and instruction. We also acknowledge that no single curriculum will be able to meet all criteria, and that ongoing collaboration and teacher input will be necessary to our work. The criteria used at this stage were designed to be easy to assess, but baseline to any program we would consider for use in OUSD.

Content:

Primary and Secondary Sources: The curriculum includes consistent access to lessons that incorporate. primary and secondary sources.

Cultural Relevance: Materials reflect multiple sources and perspectives. Includes histories of people of color and challenges

Inquiry:

Curriculum Design: Backwards-design curriculum Curriculum can be organized around recurring themes Inquiry questions create opportunities to draw connections to the present and students' experiences

Student Engagement: Includes varied activities including hands-on and original/meaningful, student generated projects that are guided throughout the curriculum. Discussion prompts and protocols are woven into curriculum

Meaningful Assessments: High quality formative and summative assessments with a variety of DOK. As according to UDL principles, provides for multiple means of expressing learning, i.e. varied culminating projects (not all essays)

Common Core Alignment: Opportunities to read complex, grade level texts and reading at student independent level. Lessons provide explicit instruction and repeated practice of reading and writing strategies in the discipline.

English Language Development (ELD) Alignment: Lessons incorporate language resources (e.g. sentence frames, tier 2 and tier 3 vocabulary, concept maps, etc.

Access and Equity: Differentiation of supplemental materials accessible to all students. Lessons have built in differentiation options for ELLs and students with IEPs

Usability

Ease of use for Teachers: Could serve as an anchor text for instruction. Lessons as written would support a new teacher. Materials can be flexibly used or modified by seasoned teachers (lesson resources such as graphic organizers are editable). Includes digital supplements.

Transformational Social Emotional Learning (SEL)

SEL Alignment: Opportunities to develop Identity/Self Awareness by identifying personal, cultural, and linguistic assets and examining prejudices and biases. Opportunities to develop Belonging/Social Awareness by engaging in healthy interactions, and taking the perspectives of diverse people.

Support for Civic Engagement: Includes opportunities to make connections between historical content and current events. Opportunities for students to discuss and practice civic values along with course content

Data from each review submitted by the teachers were captured in a google form. The social studies coordinator organized the data from the tool to create a visual heat map to help teachers see where each vendor presentation and assessment of the materials fared. This allowed the steering committee to identify which vendors to recommend to be piloted in the 2023-2024 school year.

In addition to the deeper review of materials, the social studies coordinator went to high schools social studies department meetings to present information about the process and the programs in consideration, giving teachers time to look at program materials and assess the programs for themselves. Additionally, the social studies coordinator attended High School Principal Professional Learning sessions to share updates and solicit site leaders support to recruit social studies teachers to participate in this process and to raise awareness about the importance of this work in service of supporting students and teachers. Teachers received surveys to assess their instructional needs, what they would like to see in a new curriculum in addition to what resources they currently used to teach their course(s).

Overall, how would you rate this program? Would you recommend that OUSD use this program for all high school English classes?

This process engaged:

- Over 60 Social teachers in OUSD high schools.
- 40 teachers responded to the instructional needs assessment.
- High school principals were encouraged to attend vendor presentations.

The High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee reviewed survey data and comments, as well as their own investigations of the curricula.

Selection of Materials for Piloting

At the end of the 7 vendor presentations, the committee voted to pilot 2 programs in the fall of the 23-24 school year: Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI) and Savvas Myworld Interactive.

- TCI scored well with teachers due to the curriculum providing multiple ways to engage students on a consistent basis, curriculum design, ease of teacher use, and variety of primary and secondary sources.
- Savvas Myworld Interactive was recommended by the committee for pilot due to its access to primary and secondary sources, civic engagement, student engagement and curriculum design.

Fall 2023 Curriculum Pilot

Pilot Timeline and Process

In Spring and Summer 2023, the social studies coordinator recruited teachers to participate in a pilot of our two finalist programs: Teacher Curriculum Institute and Savvas MyWorld Interactive. Pilot teachers participated in a 1 or 2-day in person training that included an overview of the piloting process and each curriculum being piloted, and curriculum-specific training from each provider. During the pilot, participating teachers engaged in meetings to get support from curriculum providers, share feedback with the larger committee, and reflect on their experiences using student work and videos of classroom practice.

Below is a timeline of key events for the fall 2023 piloting process:

Date	Activity

Student and Teacher Reflection Data

As the pilot cycles came to an end, the teachers completed a reflection to identify pluses and deltas of each curriculum. The criteria of the pluses and delta reflection process are as follows; Curriculum Design, High Expectations, Student Engagement, Access to Complex Text and Teacher Usability. Prior to the January deliberation meeting, the pilot team met to share and compile their pluses and deltas within course teams.

Over 300 students completed a qualitative survey to account for their experience for both TCI and Savvas MyWorld. The criteria for this survey are as follows; What did you like most about the program(s), What did you like least about the program(s), Did the lessons help you engage in reading, writing, speaking and class discussion, Did you feel like the texts and materials were engaging and help you understand the content? Overall which of the two vendors would you recommend for adoption?

Qualitative Themes from TCI Surveys and Empathy Interviews

Both teachers and students were asked to respond to several free response questions in relation to the programs they piloted. These responses teachers and students made about their experiences working with TCI materials made it clear as to why this vendor should move to a board recommendation to become the adopted curriculum for grades 10-12 social studies courses.

Teacher Survey Themes:

Curriculum Design:

- Interactive classroom activities were engaging for students
- Clear instructional guide Essential questions teacher moves, how to use the text.
- Lessons have flexible teaching options
- Built in classroom activities in all lessons
- Units and lesson use common language: Preview, Activity, Vocab and Process
- Slide decks are built and ready for immediate use.
- Teacher toolkit available for pacing, suggestions on how to teach

Student Engagement:

- The processing activity at the end of each lesson is student centered.
- Requires students to produce, reflect on their learning.
- Consistent intentional opportunities to get students to read, write, think and participate.
- Intentional opportunities for students to collaborate and share their thinking.

Access the Complex Text:

- Includes a lot of primary source materials that are built into the curriculum.
- Supplemental texts are available
- All readings are grade level appropriate and standards aligned.
- Pictures and graphs also have audio features available. Multiple languages offered.

Teacher Usability:

- Teacher user friendly with the lesson plans
- Liked the powerpoint slide that students can access as we discuss the material. Also liked that the activity was provided on that powerpoint.

- User-friendly especially for first year teachers

High Expectations:

- The interactive notebook to engage with the reading. The questions are more history focus or process oriented
- Objective is clear and the activity is aligned to that objective.
- Guiding questions provided for each unit. Wide range of question response formats at the end of each section
- Texts and tasks were grade-level? (Though all/ primarily secondary source textbook narratives).
- Units and lessons are designed for students to read and write consistently.

Student Survey Themes-What I liked most about TCI

Student Engagement:

- "It helped me learn in an efficient way."
- What I liked most about this program is that we get to learn a lot about history and the people who made big impacts that led to the outcome that still affects today's society.
- I like how it includes current events and past events constantly and consistently
- I like the videos, they are quick and very informative. I also enjoy that I can zoom in on the pictures.
- Helps students and allows them to get deeper into certain history topics.
- Doing fun activities, meeting new people and learning things to unlock learning.
- Activities allowed me to work with other students and understand the work.
- I liked TCI's mini-activities mid text. It facilitates reflection of what I just read.
- I like the TCI readings + reflection questions that made sure that we remembered what we learned.

Access the Complex Text:

- “I think it covers information well and is very clear. I also like how you can change the reading setting to make it easier or harder.”
- “I liked that there were different sections so I could do the work in parts.”
- “It’s detailed and you can hear the reading.”

Student Usability:

- “I like that there are different ways to interact with the text, either by annotating it, having it read to you, or how there are interactive games after each lesson/unit.”
- “It’s very interactive which makes it easier for me to obtain the knowledge I am being taught. I like the pre-quiz/game that I can take and that it makes flash cards”.
- “It’s not confusing or all over the place. I like how I can access material easily”.
- “I can see my assignments easily and can login directly through clever”.
- “I can see my assignments easily and can login directly through clever”.
- “It’s really organized and it gives an easier way to read articles and answer them”.

Committee Evaluation of Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI):

Upon review of the artifacts from the curriculum pilot, the committee named the following strengths and opportunities of adopting TCI:

- Engages students in authentic learning activities authentically
- Consistent opportunities for students to grow as readers, speakers, and writers.
- Built in support for teachers of all years of service.
- Helps to create consistency and collaboration of teachers across the district.

The committee also named some weaknesses and risks:

- Given the high level of challenge in implementing the curriculum, OUSD would need to invest heavily in teacher professional learning and supports, focused on:
 - Navigating TCI units and lessons
 - Scaffolding and pacing guidance to support student access to texts and tasks

Final Recommendation

Ultimately, the committee agreed that TCI's strength and support for teachers to facilitate meaningful learning social studies experiences outweigh the weaknesses. Many of the weaknesses can be attended to through ongoing professional learning and collaboration, as well as the feedback offered to the curriculum designers throughout the revision of the next edition of the curriculum.

It is the recommendation of the 10-12 Social Curriculum Adoption Committee to proceed with the adoption of Teacher Curriculum Institute across our high school programs, and to begin implementation of the 10-11th grade curriculum in the fall of 2024, with an additional grade level rolling out each subsequent year.

Thank you for the consideration of our proposal.

Appendix A: OUSD Social Studies Framework

OUSD Social Studies Framework

Summary 1-Pager [Full-length version]

About the Framework:

Purpose and Vision

The study of history and the social sciences is essential to preserving human dignity, justice and democracy. Courses encourage students to be introduced to human cultures through an understanding of the universal concerns among people who differ in many respects. The varied course selections and graduation requirements reflect these goals. The diversity of the OUSD student body is a unique asset for teaching history and social studies.

Through inquiry, literacy, content and civic engagement students are given opportunities to exchange ideas, and to learn the facts, concepts and skills necessary to become effective citizens. Through Social Studies, students learn to explore and think critically about the world around them, ultimately becoming engaged and contributing members to their community.

In OUSD our history / social studies curriculum is rooted in learning about our community and aligned to the California History-Social Studies Framework. History / Social Studies instruction is: Based in equity practices, evidence based tasks, and the essential components of inquiry, literacy, content, and civic engagement.

At the Center/Our Why: Empowered Students

We envision each student graduating from OUSD:

- Grounded in their own story
- As a joyful reader
- Equipped with college- and career-ready reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills
- Critically literate, and ready to create change in the world and in their communities

How do we get there?

In the Classroom: Three Components of Equitable Literacy Instruction

These three elements overlap and reinforce one another. Effective and equitable instruction results from the combination of these three elements, not from any one of the elements in isolation.

High Expectations with High Support

High Academic Expectations & High Support

Asset-Based Pedagogy

Culturally Relevant, Responsive, & Asset-Based Pedagogy

- The tasks that students do every day are the best predictors of the knowledge, skills, and dispositions they will develop over time.
- The Common Core State Standards for Literacy were backwards-mapped from college and career-level texts and tasks - so aligning daily tasks to grade-level standards is one of the most powerful shifts teachers can make in service of students' access to college and career.
- To rise to the challenge of grade-level tasks, students need the support of strong warm-demander relationships with their teachers, SEL conditions in the classroom, and appropriate scaffolds.
- See examples and further resources in the full-length framework

Culturally Relevant, Responsive, and Asset-

- Asset-Based Pedagogies such as culturally relevant and responsive teaching and Universal Design for Learning (UDL) are rooted in the belief that students bring rich knowledge, skills, and language into the classroom, and that teaching is most effective when educators recognize and build off of these assets in their instruction. These pedagogies are a direct response to the deficit-based narratives we internalize as a result of racism, sexism, ableism, etc., and require educators to engage in critical self-reflection about their own beliefs.
- Culturally relevant and responsive teaching ensures that students' identities and cultures are reflected in classroom content and practices. In literacy instruction, this might look like selecting relevant texts, engaging in communal reading and discussion, or embracing multiple forms of literacy.
- Universal Design for Learning leverages students' assets by offering multiple means of engagement, representation, and action/expression.
- See examples and further resources in the full-length framework.

Skillful Language and Literacy Instruction

- Students grow their language and literacy skills through practice. Skillful teachers embrace, rather than shy away from, opportunities for students to stretch their

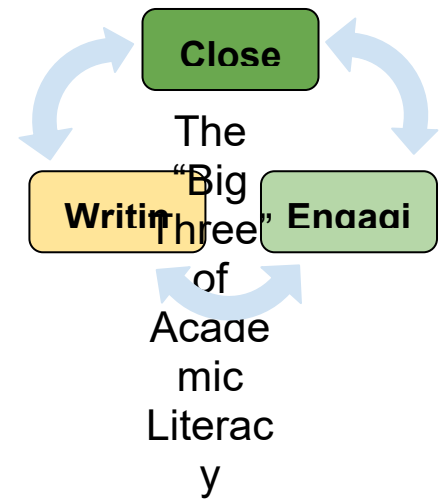

Equity Learning Questions

How can we build Empowering Narratives of/for our students?	How do we identify and counter deficit thinking with Asset-Based Practices ?
How can we integrate students' Linguistic and Cultural Assets into instruction?	What does Self-Work look like for me/my team?

Skillful Language & Literacy Instruction

- skills and engage with challenging texts, concepts, and tasks.
- Students need daily opportunities to practice “The Big Three” of academic literacy:
 - Close reading of complex texts
 - Academic discussion
 - Writing with evidence
 - Teachers support ELLs and ALLs (academic language learners) by amplifying (not simplifying) the language of texts and tasks before, during, and after reading
 - Teachers can also support knowledge and vocabulary by teaching units that focus on one topic deeply, and providing students with text sets - a series of texts (including multimedia sources) related to the same topic.
 - When students aren’t comprehending when they read, teachers can employ Tier 1 strategies that support fluency and comprehension.
 - See examples and further resources in the full-length framework.

Beyond the Classroom: Essential Conditions

Essential Conditions

Educators alone cannot address our literacy inequities. The entire system must be in alignment in order to support our students. The following conditions are necessary to make the three components of instruction possible:

- Collective responsibility: From our central office, to our classrooms, to our families - all adults must take responsibility for students’ language and literacy development.
- Student and family partnerships: We must build strong partnerships with our students and families, grounded in mutual trust and respect, with the shared goal of supporting student learning.
- Foundational and sustaining professional development: If we expect all teachers to implement the practices described above, we must support them with foundational and ongoing training that is high quality, differentiated, and whenever possible, led by their peers.
- Aligned curriculum: Similarly, as we adopt new curriculum materials for ELA and other subject areas, we must consider both rigor (alignment with the demands of college and career as well as student aspirations for their future; resources for supporting language development) and relevance (alignment with the identities, cultures, experiences, and interests of our students).

Appendix C- Review Criteria and Ratings

HS Social Studies Curriculum Rubric:

This rubric was created with input from History Teacher Leaders as a standard against which to compare curricula. Teacher leaders synthesized the criteria from their knowledge of the 2016 CA History-Social Science Framework. It represents our OUSD hopes for a high quality, framework-aligned curriculum adoption that meets the needs of our diverse students and supports teachers in their long term and daily planning. We also acknowledge that no single curriculum will be able to meet all criteria, and that ongoing collaboration and teacher input will be necessary to our work.

OUSD History and Social Studies Framework (TK-12)

April 2023

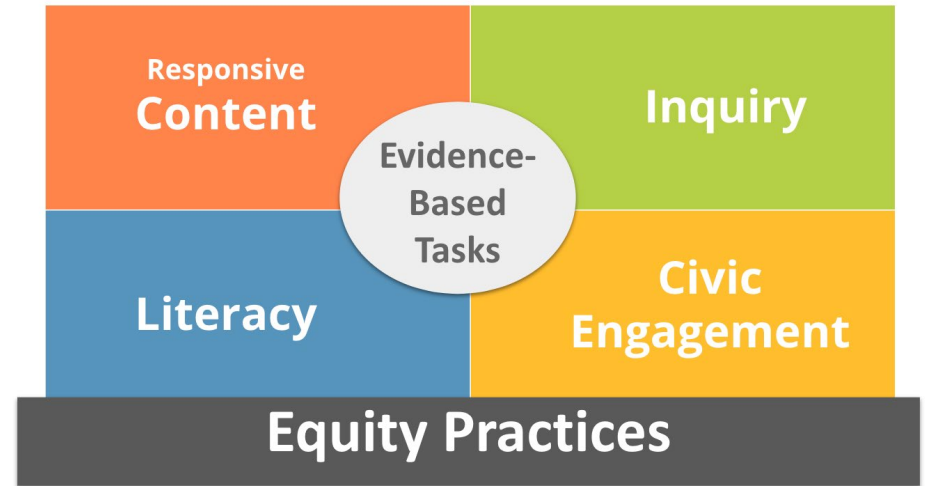

Overview: Social Studies--Access. Discourse. Action.

Purpose and Vision

The study of history and the social sciences is essential to preserving human dignity, justice and democracy. Courses encourage students to be introduced to human cultures through an understanding of the universal concerns among people who differ in many respects. The varied course selections and graduation requirements reflect these goals. The diversity of the OUSD student body is a unique asset for teaching history and social studies.

Through inquiry, literacy, content and civic engagement students are given opportunities to exchange ideas, and to learn the facts, concepts and skills necessary to become effective citizens. Through Social Studies, students learn to explore and think critically about the world around them, ultimately becoming engaged and contributing members to their community.

In OUSD our history / social studies curriculum is rooted in learning about our community and aligned to the California History-Social Studies Framework. History / Social Studies instruction is: Based in equity practices, evidence based tasks, and the essential components of inquiry, literacy, content, and civic engagement.

1. Based in Equity Practices: Culturally sustaining strategies to interrupt deficit thinking, leverage students' linguistic and cultural assets, and nurture empowering narratives with and for our students and families.

2. At the Core: Evidence-based tasks for every student, every day!

3. Essential Components:

- Inquiry: involves a process of asking questions, interpreting multiple sources and perspectives, along with the ability to to develop a claim and take action accordingly.
- Literacy - engaging with texts from multiple perspectives as opportunities to reveal how language works, how historians and social scientists write, or how students can identify and critique an author's bias using historical sources that support their claim.
- Content: use of primary and secondary sources to grapple with content from multiple perspectives and form interpretations based on evidence, learn about how to place information in its appropriate context, and connect it to issues of broader significance.
- Civic Engagement: civic engagement is a tool to help students understand and participate with the world around them. Students connect the past to present issues, debate, and actively promote justice in local and global communities.

1. EQUITY PRACTICES establish the necessary conditions for learning, guiding our planning and implementation of a high-expectations environment where our students' diversity is celebrated and leveraged in the service of powerful learning, cultural competence and belonging.

U.S. schooling exists in a broader context of systemic, interpersonal, and internalized oppression. Students from historically marginalized backgrounds are least likely to receive quality instruction that affirms their experiences and capacity as learners. History/social studies instruction must be based on culturally sustaining practices that build on student assets and empower them to become engaged readers, writers, and critical thinkers. OUSD is committed to infusing ethnic studies pedagogy and curriculum into our history/social studies classrooms to support the critical consciousness, self-determination, agency, and humanization of all people by:

1. honoring histories and cultures of racially marginalized groups,
2. by employing multiple disciplines and perspectives to critically analyze systems of oppression, and
3. by promoting action in solidarity,
4. ultimately to positively transform students' lives and communities.

Disrupting Deficit Thinking

We must all engage in self work to understand our biases and how we participate in systems of oppression. The language we use is a manifestation of our mindset and has the capacity to either interrupt or perpetuate bias. For example, speaking about students as having “unfinished learning” instead of describing them as “low students” communicates a belief in their capacity to grow and excel. One way school teams can disrupt deficit thinking is by building and practicing community agreements regarding use of language that empowers and uplifts. By shifting from the language of complaint to language of commitment, we can express what we stand for and take responsibility for addressing inequities (Benson, 2020).

Another way that deficit plays out is through teacher simplification of texts and tasks when students are not perceived as ready for grade level materials. Although sometimes well intentioned, this often results in students of color being denied access to rich instruction that promotes higher order thinking. Rather than lowering the rigor, our focus must be to provide access to standards-based instruction by scaffolding instruction and building on student understandings (OUSD Asset-Based Cards).

Leveraging Cultural and Linguistic Assets

Students who can access their lived experiences and cultural assets are confident and productive learners who achieve amazing, accelerated results (Jackson, 2011). Unfortunately the cultures of language Black, Brown and Indigenous students are often not represented or considered in instruction. That is why we must look for opportunities to affirm and integrate culturally-based ways of communicating and understanding (Yasso, 2005). For example, many cultures represented in OUSD have a strong oral storytelling and performance narrative traditions which can be reflected in history / social studies instruction. These practices help connect home, community and classroom learning and ensure all students feel a sense of belonging.

“Classroom studies document the fact that underserved multilingual learners, students living in poverty and students of color routinely receive less instruction in higher order thinking and skills development than other students... This type of instruction denies students the opportunity to engage in what neuroscientists call productive struggle that actually grows brainpower.”

- Zaretta Hammond

Nurturing Empowering Narratives

Dominant cultural narratives about our students and families are often deficit-oriented and limiting. These negative messages can be internalized by students, affecting their sense of cultural and academic belonging and determination. To promote narrative change, we must ensure that students see themselves and other members of their community represented in the curriculum through stories of creativity, resistance, collaboration and humanity. Rich texts should serve as both mirrors to reflect students' culture and experiences and windows into the backgrounds of others. We can also partner with students, families and community members to create and elevate stories that honor the brilliance, resilience and richness of our communities.

2. Evidence based TASKS at the Core

History and the social sciences are rooted in reading, writing, speaking and thinking. The tasks that students do every day are the best predictors of the knowledge, skills and dispositions they will develop over time. Therefore students must be engaging with rich historical and social science texts that build academic language and require to write and speak grounded in evidence (as a historian). To plan and assess history and social studies lessons, we ask three essential questions:

1. Does the lesson focus on high-quality text(s)?

- Primary or secondary sources that are complex and grade appropriate
- Academic language used in context
- Sources that offer or present a diverse perspectives that provide an opportunity for a comparative analysis

2. Does the teacher employ questions and tasks that are text-dependent?

- Questions require students to attend to the text and its unique features
- Daily text-dependent questions require students to use evidence from the text to demonstrate their understanding and support their ideas
- Evaluating texts from multiple perspectives considering speaker, occasion, audience, purpose, subject, and tone or Questions and task are organized to build on knowledge aligned to appropriate scaffolds to guide students to delve deeper.

3. Are all students provided an opportunity to engage in the task of the lesson?

- Tasks are designed with a specific objective where students to the majority of the work
- High quality tasks that are designed to promote skill practice in reading, writing, thinking, speaking and collaboration.
- Student discourse, using evidence, responding to ideas from peers and the text

This is our collective commitment — relevant and rigorous tasks for every student, every day!

3. ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS

Inquiry

History is an inquiry into events and people and involves a process of asking questions about the past and making conclusions. Students use inquiry to understand the world around them, seeking out information, interpret multiple sources to develop a claim and take action accordingly.

An inquiry approach creates opportunities for students to explore evidence, ask questions, and practice using the same tools and ways of thinking that a historian. Students develop and defend informed positions of their own. This process prepares students to make sense of the issues they face in their contemporary world.

Literacy

Students make meaning of the past by reading, discussing, and writing about complex texts - primary sources, secondary sources, and a variety of media created by historians and other social scientists. Students use investigations and questions to frame inquiry in order to unlock the meaning of these texts, students develop a critical understanding of our past and our world today.

Teachers embrace challenging texts from multiple perspectives as opportunities to reveal how language works, how historians and social scientists write, or how students can identify and critique an author's bias using historical sources that support their claim. These experiences support students to develop background knowledge, grow as critical readers, to produce stronger writing, and ultimately, to be able to independently read and interpret texts and media they encounter beyond the classroom.

Responsive Content

Content reflects the expanding historical narrative. The trend toward globalization, breakthroughs in environmental history, and the impact of the science of genomes in uncovering the past are but a few examples of how our understanding of history-social science is changing. State laws, such as the 2012 FAIR Act, expand the narrative to include the history of people with disabilities and people with LGBT identities. Content should offer information that helps students answer essential questions by representing multiple perspectives, source reliability, and accessibility.

Culturally and community-centered content prioritizes student interest and identity. In the words of James Banks, strong teachers “make effective instructional use of the personal and cultural knowledge of students while at the same time helping them reach beyond their cultural boundaries”.

OUSD History and Social Studies Framework (TK-12)

April 2023

History-social science content impacts student identity formation, and teachers' content choices seek to challenge the stereotypes and harmful ideologies that reinforce racism, sexism, heteronormativity, and ableism.

Teachers position students to do the work of historians and social scientists. Students learn from primary and secondary sources, grapple with content from multiple perspectives and form interpretations based on evidence, and how to place information in its appropriate context and connect it to issues of broader significance.

Civic Engagement

Our students are the next generation of civic actors, and their history-social science education should, in the words of Paulo Friere, prepare them to “read the world,” That is, to use literacy and civic engagement as a tool to help students understand and engage with the world around them. Students connect the past to present issues, debate, and actively promote justice in local and global communities. Teachers support the development of our students' moral compasses by creating opportunities for students to discuss their responsibilities as members of society and how justice and the law may overlap or contradict one another. Historical examples of tactics and strategies for change serve as jumping-off points for discussion. Issues and people in the community play a central role in history-social science education, either by coming into the classroom as guest speakers or curriculum topics or by drawing students out of the classroom for field trips, field research, and actions.

Executive Summary

In summer 2022, the Academics & Instruction team and the high school history social studies community were charged with selecting instructional materials for adoption across OUSD 10-12 history/social studies classrooms. The High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee, composed of a group of teachers and central leaders representing different areas, began work in Fall 2022 to review and identify materials that would best support OUSD high school students in engaging in rigorous and relevant social studies instruction throughout the district. The committee's review was based on evaluation of printed and online materials against local criteria determined through student and teacher engagements, as well as expert reviews of curricula under consideration. In Spring 2023, the committee recommended classroom-based piloting of instructional units for the two finalist curricula: Savvas MyWorld Interactive, and Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI).

In the first semester of 2023, 14 teachers representing 9 of our high schools participated in the curriculum pilot, with each classroom piloting one or two of the curricula in consideration. In January 2024, pilot teachers voted to recommend TCI as the adopted high school history social studies curriculum. The newly adopted curriculum will be rolled out over the next three years, with 10th grade courses starting the curriculum in fall 2024. An Implementation Committee with teachers from across our high school programs will support roll-out planning.

2022-23 Materials Review

Context of the materials review

In 2007, Oakland Unified adopted social studies materials from three different publishers; 10th grade: World History: The Modern World c. 2007 (Pearson), 11th Grade: US History: American Anthem (Holt Rinehart, Winston) 12th Grade: Magruder's American Government c.2007 (Pearson) and 12th Grade: Contemporary Economics c. 2007 (Thomson) as the core history/social studies curriculum for high schools. Since that time, the Common Core State Standards for history social studies were adopted, which called for shifts in the way history/social studie is taught, in order to support students to be College and Career ready. There has not been an adoption of new materials since the adoption of the CCSS, and survey data from 10-12 history/social studies teachers in Fall 2022 showed that over 60% of teachers who completed the survey primarily used curricular materials that they developed themselves, in collaboration with colleagues or found on the Internet. Only 4.5% of teachers reported using the textbook for all units, with no teachers saying it was their primary social studies resource.

In the last few years, a wide array of CCSS-aligned curriculum has been made available from commercial publishers. The California State Board of Education, which has adopted social studies programs for K-8, has not adopted instructional materials for 10-12, giving local educational agencies the authority and responsibility to adopt instructional materials for use in high schools.

During the 2022-23 school year members of the Academics and Innovation department with feedback from teachers across grade-levels developed the K-12 social studies framework. The group worked together to utilize their expertise, personal experience as classroom teachers and the district's mission and vision to outline a shared framework that emphasizes Responsive Content, Inquiry, Literacy, Civic Engagement with the use of Equitable Practices. The K-12 social studies framework calls out the need to disrupt deficit thinking, leverage cultural and linguistic assets, nurturing and empowering narrative, and centers evidence based tasks at its core. Drafting this framework and rethinking how we teach social studies at the secondary level warrants an update not just in the resources used in the classroom, but most importantly a shift in our instructional practices that are student centered and aimed at exposing students to grade appropriate reading, writing and tasks to give them practice to master 21st century skills necessary for their lives after high school.

In this context, the Academics team was charged with leading an Instructional Materials Review in Summer 2022. As the process of identifying a new curriculum for high school social studies classes began in the summer and fall of 2022, the three core components of the K-12 Social studies Framework became the initial criteria used to assess the quality of history/social studies programs.

Materials Review Process and Timeline

The Academics team began engaging the Oakland Unified high school Social Studies community around adopting materials for high school courses in fall 2022. Working under the charge to make a curriculum recommendation to the Superintendent and Board of Education in time for adoption and purchase for use starting in fall 2024, the Academics team solicited applications from teachers to join a High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee and began surveying district stakeholders about what they most wanted in an adopted primary Social Studies resource. What follows is a timeline of stakeholder engagements in this materials review process.

Committee Membership

The Academics team received 10 applications from teachers to be on the High School Curriculum Adoption Committee for the initial materials review. All applicants were invited to join the committee, but not all were able to join given time conflicts. The 8-member committee included social studies teachers from Skyline, Oakland Tech, McClymonds, Fremont, Rudsdale and Ralph Bunche high schools.

The Academics team structured the process to focus on establishing criteria for 10-12 Social Studies curriculum and reviewing printed and online materials against these criteria in 2022-23, and a shift to piloting materials in the fall of 2023.

Establishing Criteria for Review

To establish criteria against which to evaluate materials, the committee drew from surveys of teachers, site and central office leaders, and students about the features they valued in instructional materials, as well as the Social Studies and Literacy Framework.

Teacher and Admin Survey Data

22 teachers responded to the survey, identifying how important different criteria were to them in curriculum selection.

The top 3 priorities for teachers were:

1. Access to primary and secondary sources (86% ranked very important)
2. Opportunities to engage students at a high level (86% ranked very important)
3. Cultural relevance (81% ranked very important)

Criteria for Evaluating Materials

Using data from the surveys and other engagements, and the High School Language and Literacy Framework, the committee organized criteria into four categories for evaluation:

- Meaningful Student Engagement
- Inquiry
- Skillful Language and Literacy Instruction

- Curriculum Usability, Design and Flexibility
- Access to primary and secondary sources
- Citizenship
- Usability
- Transformational Social Emotional Learning

Evaluation of Materials

The Committee began with an initial list of 7 curricula, identified through EdReports.org, discussions with surrounding districts, and programs that teachers had used or were interested in exploring. The curricula on the initial list for review were:

1. Gale National Geographic
2. Savvas MyWorld Interactive
3. Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI)
4. NewsELA
5. McGraw Hill
6. Document Based Question Project
7. Facing History and Ourselves.

Vendor Review Process

In order to provide committee members with baseline information related to the above programs in consideration, and potentially eliminate programs that did not deserve to be considered for a pilot, the social studies coordinator provided the steering committee with a high school social studies curriculum rubric. This rubric was created with input from history teacher leaders as a standard against which to compare curricula. Teacher leaders synthesized the criteria from their knowledge of the 2016 CA History-Social Science Framework. It represents our OUSD hopes for a high quality, framework-aligned curriculum adoption that meets the needs of our diverse students and supports teachers in their long term and daily planning and instruction. We also acknowledge that no single curriculum will be able to meet all criteria, and that ongoing collaboration and teacher input will be necessary to our work. The criteria used at this stage were designed to be easy to assess, but baseline to any program we would consider for use in OUSD.

Content:

Primary and Secondary Sources: The curriculum includes consistent access to lessons that incorporate. primary and secondary sources.

Cultural Relevance: Materials reflect multiple sources and perspectives. Includes histories of people of color and challenges

Inquiry:

Curriculum Design: Backwards-design curriculum Curriculum can be organized around recurring themes Inquiry questions create opportunities to draw connections to the present and students' experiences

Student Engagement: Includes varied activities including hands-on and original/meaningful, student generated projects that are guided throughout the curriculum. Discussion prompts and protocols are woven into curriculum

Meaningful Assessments: High quality formative and summative assessments with a variety of DOK. As according to UDL principles, provides for multiple means of expressing learning, i.e. varied culminating projects (not all essays)

Literacy

Common Core Alignment: Opportunities to read complex, grade level texts and reading at student independent level. Lessons provide explicit instruction and repeated practice of reading and writing strategies in the discipline.

English Language Development (ELD) Alignment: Lessons incorporate language resources (e.g. sentence frames, tier 2 and tier 3 vocabulary, concept maps, etc.

Access and Equity: Differentiation of supplemental materials accessible to all students. Lessons have built in differentiation options for ELLs and students with IEPs

Usability

Ease of use for Teachers: Could serve as an anchor text for instruction. Lessons as written would support a new teacher. Materials can be flexibly used or modified by seasoned teachers (lesson resources such as graphic organizers are editable). Includes digital supplements.

Transformational Social Emotional Learning (SEL)

SEL Alignment: Opportunities to develop Identity/Self Awareness by identifying personal, cultural, and linguistic assets and examining prejudices and biases. Opportunities to develop Belonging/Social Awareness by engaging in healthy interactions, and taking the perspectives of diverse people.

Citizenship

Support for Civic Engagement: Includes opportunities to make connections between historical content and current events. Opportunities for students to discuss and practice civic values along with course content

Data from each review submitted by the teachers were captured in a google form. The social studies coordinator organized the data from the tool to create a visual heat map to help teachers see where each vendor presentation and assessment of the materials fared. This allowed the steering committee to identify which vendors to recommend to be piloted in the 2023-2024 school year.

In addition to the deeper review of materials, the social studies coordinator went to high schools social studies department meetings to present information about the process and the programs in consideration, giving teachers time to look at program materials and assess the programs for themselves. Additionally, the social studies coordinator attended High School Principal Professional Learning sessions to share updates and solicit site leaders support to recruit social studies teachers to participate in this process and to raise awareness about the importance of this work in service of supporting students and teachers. Teachers received surveys to assess their instructional needs, what they would like to see in a new curriculum in addition to what resources they currently used to teach their course(s).

Overall, how would you rate this program? Would you recommend that OUSD use this program for all high school English classes?

This process engaged:

- Over 60 Social teachers in OUSD high schools.
- 40 teachers responded to the instructional needs assessment.
- High school principals were encouraged to attend vendor presentations.

The High School Social Studies Curriculum Adoption Committee reviewed survey data and comments, as well as their own investigations of the curricula.

Selection of Materials for Piloting

At the end of the 7 vendor presentations, the committee voted to pilot 2 programs in the fall of the 23-24 school year: Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI) and Savvas Myworld Interactive.

- TCI scored well with teachers due to the curriculum providing multiple ways to engage students on a consistent basis, curriculum design, ease of teacher use, and variety of primary and secondary sources.
- Savvas Myworld Interactive was recommended by the committee for pilot due to its access to primary and secondary sources, civic engagement, student engagement and curriculum design.

Fall 2023 Curriculum Pilot

Pilot Timeline and Process

In Spring and Summer 2023, the social studies coordinator recruited teachers to participate in a pilot of our two finalist programs: Teacher Curriculum Institute and Savvas MyWorld Interactive. Pilot teachers participated in a 1 or 2-day in person training that included an overview of the piloting process and each curriculum being piloted, and curriculum-specific training from each provider. During the pilot, participating teachers engaged in meetings to get support from curriculum providers, share feedback with the larger committee, and reflect on their experiences using student work and videos of classroom practice.

Below is a timeline of key events for the fall 2023 piloting process:

Student and Teacher Reflection Data

As the pilot cycles came to an end, the teachers completed a reflection to identify pluses and deltas of each curriculum. The criteria of the pluses and delta reflection process are as follows; Curriculum Design, High Expectations, Student Engagement, Access to Complex Text and Teacher Usability. Prior to the January deliberation meeting, the pilot team met to share and compile their pluses and deltas within course teams.

Over 300 students completed a qualitative survey to account for their experience for both TCI and Savvas MyWorld. The criteria for this survey are as follows; What did you like most about the program(s), What did you like least about the program(s), Did the lessons help you engage in reading, writing, speaking and class discussion, Did you feel like the texts and materials were engaging and help you understand the content? Overall which of the two vendors would you recommend for adoption?

Qualitative Themes from TCI Surveys and Empathy Interviews

Both teachers and students were asked to respond to several free response questions in relation to the programs they piloted. These responses teachers and students made about their experiences working with TCI materials made it clear as to why this vendor should move to a board recommendation to become the adopted curriculum for grades 10-12 social studies courses.

Student Survey Themes-What I liked most about TCI

Student Engagement:

- "It helped me learn in an efficient way."

- I like how it includes current events and past events constantly and consistently
- I like the videos, they are quick and very informative. I also enjoy that I can zoom in on the pictures.

- Doing fun activities, meeting new people and learning things to unlock learning.
- Activities allowed me to work with other students and understand the work.
- I liked TCI's mini-activities mid text. It facilitates reflection of what I just read.
- I like the TCI readings + reflection questions that made sure that we remembered what we learned.

Access the Complex Text:

- “I think it covers information well and is very clear. I also like how you can change the reading setting to make it easier or harder.”
- “I liked that there were different sections so I could do the work in parts.”
- “It’s detailed and you can hear the reading.”

Student Usability:

- “I like that there are different ways to interact with the text, either by annotating it, having it read to you, or how there are interactive games after each lesson/unit.”
- “It’s very interactive which makes it easier for me to obtain the knowledge I am being taught. I like the pre-quiz/game that I can take and that it makes flash cards”.
- “It’s not confusing or all over the place. I like how I can access material easily”.
- “I can see my assignments easily and can login directly through clever”.
- “I can see my assignments easily and can login directly through clever”.
- “It’s really organized and it gives an easier way to read articles and answer them”.

Committee Evaluation of Teacher Curriculum Institute (TCI):

Upon review of the artifacts from the curriculum pilot, the committee named the following strengths and opportunities of adopting TCI:

- Engages students in authentic learning activities authentically
- Consistent opportunities for students to grow as readers, speakers, and writers.
- Built in support for teachers of all years of service.
- Helps to create consistency and collaboration of teachers across the district.

The committee also named some weaknesses and risks:

- Given the high level of challenge in implementing the curriculum, OUSD would need to invest heavily in teacher professional learning and supports, focused on:
 - Navigating TCI units and lessons
 - Scaffolding and pacing guidance to support student access to texts and tasks

Final Recommendation

Ultimately, the committee agreed that TCI's strength and support for teachers to facilitate meaningful learning social studies experiences outweigh the weaknesses. Many of the weaknesses can be attended to through ongoing professional learning and collaboration, as well as the feedback offered to the curriculum designers throughout the revision of the next edition of the curriculum.

It is the recommendation of the 10-12 Social Curriculum Adoption Committee to proceed with the adoption of Teacher Curriculum Institute across our high school programs, and to begin implementation of the 10-11th grade curriculum in the fall of 2024, with an additional grade level rolling out each subsequent year.

Thank you for the consideration of our proposal.

Appendix A: OUSD Social Studies Framework

OUSD Social Studies Framework

Summary 1-Pager [Full-length version]

About the Framework:

Purpose and Vision

The study of history and the social sciences is essential to preserving human dignity, justice and democracy. Courses encourage students to be introduced to human cultures through an understanding of the universal concerns among people who differ in many respects. The varied course selections and graduation requirements reflect these goals. The diversity of the OUSD student body is a unique asset for teaching history and social studies.

Through inquiry, literacy, content and civic engagement students are given opportunities to exchange ideas, and to learn the facts, concepts and skills necessary to become effective citizens. Through Social Studies, students learn to explore and think critically about the world around them, ultimately becoming engaged and contributing members to their community.

In OUSD our history / social studies curriculum is rooted in learning about our community and aligned to the California History-Social Studies Framework. History / Social Studies instruction is: Based in equity practices, evidence based tasks, and the essential components of inquiry, literacy, content, and civic engagement.

At the Center/Our Why: Empowered Students

We envision each student graduating from OUSD:

- Grounded in their own story
- As a joyful reader
- Equipped with college- and career-ready reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills
- Critically literate, and ready to create change in the world and in their communities

How do we get there?

In the Classroom: Three Components of Equitable Literacy Instruction

These three elements overlap and reinforce one another. Effective and equitable instruction results from the combination of these three elements, not from any one of the elements in isolation.

High Expectations with High Support

High Academic Expectations & High Support

- The tasks that students do every day are the best predictors of the knowledge, skills, and dispositions they will develop over time.
- The Common Core State Standards for Literacy were backwards-mapped from college and career-level texts and tasks - so aligning daily tasks to grade-level standards is one of the most powerful shifts teachers can make in service of students' access to college and career.
- To rise to the challenge of grade-level tasks, students need the support of strong warm-demander relationships with their teachers, SEL conditions in the classroom, and appropriate scaffolds.
- See examples and further resources in the full-length framework

Culturally Relevant, Responsive, and Asset-

Based Pedagogy

Culturally Relevant, Responsive, & Asset-Based Pedagogy

- Asset-Based Pedagogies such as culturally relevant and responsive teaching and Universal Design for Learning (UDL) are rooted in the belief that students bring rich knowledge, skills, and language into the classroom, and that teaching is most effective when educators recognize and build off of these assets in their instruction. These pedagogies are a direct response to the deficit-based narratives we internalize as a result of racism, sexism, ableism, etc., and require educators to engage in critical self-reflection about their own beliefs.
- Culturally relevant and responsive teaching ensures that students' identities and cultures are reflected in classroom content and practices. In literacy instruction, this might look like selecting relevant texts, engaging in communal reading and discussion, or embracing multiple forms of literacy.
- Universal Design for Learning leverages students' assets by offering multiple means of engagement, representation, and action/expression.
- See examples and further resources in the full-length framework.

Equity Learning Questions

How can we build Empowering Narratives of/for our students?	How do we identify and counter deficit thinking with Asset-Based Practices ?
How can we integrate students' Linguistic and Cultural Assets into instruction?	What does Self-Work look like for me/my team?

Skillful Language and Literacy Instruction

- Students grow their language and literacy skills through practice. Skillful teachers embrace, rather than shy away from, opportunities for students to stretch their

Skillful Language & Literacy Instruction

- skills and engage with challenging texts, concepts, and tasks.
- Students need daily opportunities to practice “The Big Three” of academic literacy:
 - Close reading of complex texts
 - Academic discussion
 - Writing with evidence
 - Teachers support ELLs and ALLs (academic language learners) by amplifying (not simplifying) the language of texts and tasks before, during, and after reading
 - Teachers can also support knowledge and vocabulary by teaching units that focus on one topic deeply, and providing students with text sets - a series of texts (including multimedia sources) related to the same topic.
 - When students aren’t comprehending when they read, teachers can employ Tier 1 strategies that support fluency and comprehension.
 - See examples and further resources in the full-length framework.

Beyond the Classroom: Essential Conditions

Essential Conditions

Educators alone cannot address our literacy inequities. The entire system must be in alignment in order to support our students. The following conditions are necessary to make the three components of instruction possible:

- Collective responsibility: From our central office, to our classrooms, to our families - all adults must take responsibility for students’ language and literacy development.
- Student and family partnerships: We must build strong partnerships with our students and families, grounded in mutual trust and respect, with the shared goal of supporting student learning.
- Foundational and sustaining professional development: If we expect all teachers to implement the practices described above, we must support them with foundational and ongoing training that is high quality, differentiated, and whenever possible, led by their peers.
- Aligned curriculum: Similarly, as we adopt new curriculum materials for ELA and other subject areas, we must consider both rigor (alignment with the demands of college and career as well as student aspirations for their future; resources for supporting language development) and relevance (alignment with the identities, cultures, experiences, and interests of our students).

Appendix C- Review Criteria and Ratings

HS Social Studies Curriculum Rubric:

This rubric was created with input from History Teacher Leaders as a standard against which to compare curricula. Teacher leaders synthesized the criteria from their knowledge of the 2016 CA History-Social Science Framework. It represents our OUSD hopes for a high quality, framework-aligned curriculum adoption that meets the needs of our diverse students and supports teachers in their long term and daily planning. We also acknowledge that no single curriculum will be able to meet all criteria, and that ongoing collaboration and teacher input will be necessary to our work.

OUSD History and Social Studies Framework (TK-12)

April 2023

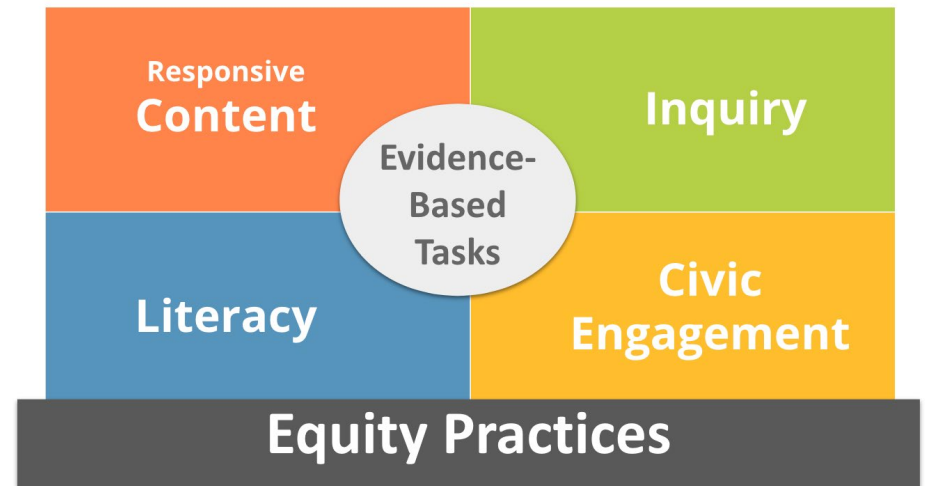

Overview: Social Studies--Access. Discourse. Action.

Purpose and Vision

The study of history and the social sciences is essential to preserving human dignity, justice and democracy. Courses encourage students to be introduced to human cultures through an understanding of the universal concerns among people who differ in many respects. The varied course selections and graduation requirements reflect these goals. The diversity of the OUSD student body is a unique asset for teaching history and social studies.

Through inquiry, literacy, content and civic engagement students are given opportunities to exchange ideas, and to learn the facts, concepts and skills necessary to become effective citizens. Through Social Studies, students learn to explore and think critically about the world around them, ultimately becoming engaged and contributing members to their community.

In OUSD our history / social studies curriculum is rooted in learning about our community and aligned to the California History-Social Studies Framework. History / Social Studies instruction is: Based in equity practices, evidence based tasks, and the essential components of inquiry, literacy, content, and civic engagement.

1. Based in Equity Practices: Culturally sustaining strategies to interrupt deficit thinking, leverage students' linguistic and cultural assets, and nurture empowering narratives with and for our students and families.

2. At the Core: Evidence-based tasks for every student, every day!

3. Essential Components:

- Inquiry: involves a process of asking questions, interpreting multiple sources and perspectives, along with the ability to to develop a claim and take action accordingly.
- Literacy - engaging with texts from multiple perspectives as opportunities to reveal how language works, how historians and social scientists write, or how students can identify and critique an author's bias using historical sources that support their claim.
- Content: use of primary and secondary sources to grapple with content from multiple perspectives and form interpretations based on evidence, learn about how to place information in its appropriate context, and connect it to issues of broader significance.
- Civic Engagement: civic engagement is a tool to help students understand and participate with the world around them. Students connect the past to present issues, debate, and actively promote justice in local and global communities.

OUSD History and Social Studies Framework (TK-12)

April 2023

1. EQUITY PRACTICES establish the necessary conditions for learning, guiding our planning and implementation of a high-expectations environment where our students' diversity is celebrated and leveraged in the service of powerful learning, cultural competence and belonging.

U.S. schooling exists in a broader context of systemic, interpersonal, and internalized oppression. Students from historically marginalized backgrounds are least likely to receive quality instruction that affirms their experiences and capacity as learners. History/social studies instruction must be based on culturally sustaining practices that build on student assets and empower them to become engaged readers, writers, and critical thinkers. OUSD is committed to infusing ethnic studies pedagogy and curriculum into our history/social studies classrooms to support the critical consciousness, self-determination, agency, and humanization of all people by:

1. honoring histories and cultures of racially marginalized groups,
2. by employing multiple disciplines and perspectives to critically analyze systems of oppression, and
3. by promoting action in solidarity,
4. ultimately to positively transform students' lives and communities.

Disrupting Deficit Thinking

We must all engage in self work to understand our biases and how we participate in systems of oppression. The language we use is a manifestation of our mindset and has the capacity to either interrupt or perpetuate bias. For example, speaking about students as having “unfinished learning” instead of describing them as “low students” communicates a belief in their capacity to grow and excel. One way school teams can disrupt deficit thinking is by building and practicing community agreements regarding use of language that empowers and uplifts. By shifting from the language of complaint to language of commitment, we can express what we stand for and take responsibility for addressing inequities (Benson, 2020).

Another way that deficit plays out is through teacher simplification of texts and tasks when students are not perceived as ready for grade level materials. Although sometimes well intentioned, this often results in students of color being denied access to rich instruction that promotes higher order thinking. Rather than lowering the rigor, our focus must be to provide access to standards-based instruction by scaffolding instruction and building on student understandings (OUSD Asset-Based Cards).

Leveraging Cultural and Linguistic Assets

Students who can access their lived experiences and cultural assets are confident and productive learners who achieve amazing, accelerated results (Jackson, 2011). Unfortunately the cultures of language Black, Brown and Indigenous students are often not represented or considered in instruction. That is why we must look for opportunities to affirm and integrate culturally-based ways of communicating and understanding (Yasso, 2005). For example, many cultures represented in OUSD have a strong oral storytelling and performance narrative traditions which can be reflected in history / social studies instruction. These practices help connect home, community and classroom learning and ensure all students feel a sense of belonging.

“Classroom studies document the fact that underserved multilingual learners, students living in poverty and students of color routinely receive less instruction in higher order thinking and skills development than other students... This type of instruction denies students the opportunity to engage in what neuroscientists call productive struggle that actually grows brainpower.”

- Zaretta Hammond

OUSD History and Social Studies Framework (TK-12)

April 2023

Nurturing Empowering Narratives

Dominant cultural narratives about our students and families are often deficit-oriented and limiting. These negative messages can be internalized by students, affecting their sense of cultural and academic belonging and determination. To promote narrative change, we must ensure that students see themselves and other members of their community represented in the curriculum through stories of creativity, resistance, collaboration and humanity. Rich texts should serve as both mirrors to reflect students' culture and experiences and windows into the backgrounds of others. We can also partner with students, families and community members to create and elevate stories that honor the brilliance, resilience and richness of our communities.

2. Evidence based TASKS at the Core

History and the social sciences are rooted in reading, writing, speaking and thinking. The tasks that students do every day are the best predictors of the knowledge, skills and dispositions they will develop over time. Therefore students must be engaging with rich historical and social science texts that build academic language and require to write and speak grounded in evidence (as a historian). To plan and assess history and social studies lessons, we ask three essential questions:

1. Does the lesson focus on high-quality text(s)?

- Primary or secondary sources that are complex and grade appropriate
- Academic language used in context
- Sources that offer or present a diverse perspectives that provide an opportunity for a comparative analysis

3. ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS

Inquiry

History is an inquiry into events and people and involves a process of asking questions about the past and making conclusions. Students use inquiry to understand the world around them, seeking out information, interpret multiple sources to develop a claim and take action accordingly.

An inquiry approach creates opportunities for students to explore evidence, ask questions, and practice using the same tools and ways of thinking that a historian. Students develop and defend informed positions of their own. This process prepares students to make sense of the issues they face in their contemporary world.

Literacy

Students make meaning of the past by reading, discussing, and writing about complex texts - primary sources, secondary sources, and a variety of media created by historians and other social scientists. Students use investigations and questions to frame inquiry in order to unlock the meaning of these texts, students develop a critical understanding of our past and our world today.

Teachers embrace challenging texts from multiple perspectives as opportunities to reveal how language works, how historians and social scientists write, or how students can identify and critique an author's bias using historical sources that support their claim. These experiences support students to develop background knowledge, grow as critical readers, to produce stronger writing, and ultimately, to be able to independently read and interpret texts and media they encounter beyond the classroom.

Responsive Content

Content reflects the expanding historical narrative. The trend toward globalization, breakthroughs in environmental history, and the impact of the science of genomes in uncovering the past are but a few examples of how our understanding of history-social science is changing. State laws, such as the 2012 FAIR Act, expand the narrative to include the history of people with disabilities and people with LGBT identities. Content should offer information that helps students answer essential questions by representing multiple perspectives, source reliability, and accessibility.

Culturally and community-centered content prioritizes student interest and identity. In the words of James Banks, strong teachers “make effective instructional use of the personal and cultural knowledge of students while at the same time helping them reach beyond their cultural boundaries”.

History-social science content impacts student identity formation, and teachers' content choices seek to challenge the stereotypes and harmful ideologies that reinforce racism, sexism, heteronormativity, and ableism.

Teachers position students to do the work of historians and social scientists. Students learn from primary and secondary sources, grapple with content from multiple perspectives and form interpretations based on evidence, and how to place information in its appropriate context and connect it to issues of broader significance.

Civic Engagement

Our students are the next generation of civic actors, and their history-social science education should, in the words of Paulo Friere, prepare them to “read the world,” That is, to use literacy and civic engagement as a tool to help students understand and engage with the world around them. Students connect the past to present issues, debate, and actively promote justice in local and global communities. Teachers support the development of our students' moral compasses by creating opportunities for students to discuss their responsibilities as members of society and how justice and the law may overlap or contradict one another. Historical examples of tactics and strategies for change serve as jumping-off points for discussion. Issues and people in the community play a central role in history-social science education, either by coming into the classroom as guest speakers or curriculum topics or by drawing students out of the classroom for field trips, field research, and actions.
