"Staff Assessments of School Climate in California"
The goal of this study was to examine differences in staff perceptions of school climate, i.e. conditions of learning by school type and school characteristics (urban/rural, socioeconomic status, racial/ethnic composition, high vs. low performing, school connectedness) statewide. Funded by State Department of Education since 2003, the California School Climate Survey is intended to gather information about staff perceptions of their school climate, that is, the conditions or quality of both the physical and social aspects of the learning environment at the school in which they work.
