Re: Compliance with California Education Code Sections 1240 as Noted in
The 2011 Visit to Manzanita Community Elementary School

Dear Superintendent Smith, President Yee, Program Manager Garvin and Principal Spencer:

California Education Code Section 1240 requires county superintendents to visit schools ranked in deciles 1-3 on the 2006 Academic Performance Index (API) to determine if there are sufficient standards-aligned instructional materials in specified areas. "Sufficient" textbooks or instructional materials, or both, is defined in California Education Code Sections 1240 and 60119. Each pupil, including English learners, must have standards-aligned materials to use in class and to take home.

On September 22, 2011, a Williams Team from the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) visited Manzanita Community Elementary School. I write to notify you that the status of the school's instructional materials was found to be compliant with California Education Code, specifically those sections that incorporate the Williams Settlement legislation.

I want to extend my appreciation for the cooperation site and district personnel gave the Williams Site team and the courtesies they extended to the Team during its visit. I value the contributions you have made to demonstrate our county-wide commitment to ensuring equity in education for all students.

Sincerely,

Re: Compliance with California Education Code Sections 1240 as Noted in
The 2011 Visit to Global Family Elementary School

Dear Superintendent Smith, President Yee, Program Manager Garvin and Principal Diaz:

California Education Code Section 1240 requires county superintendents to visit schools ranked in deciles 1-3 on the 2006 Academic Performance Index (API) to determine if there are sufficient standards-aligned instructional materials in specified areas. "Sufficient" textbooks or instructional materials, or both, is defined in California Education Code Sections 1240 and 60119. Each pupil, including English learners, must have standards-aligned materials to use in class and to take home.

On September 16, 2011, a Williams Team from the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) visited Global Family Elementary School. I write to notify you that the status of the school's instructional materials was found to be compliant with California Education Code, specifically those sections that incorporate the Williams Settlement legislation.

I want to extend my appreciation for the cooperation site and district personnel gave the Williams Site team and the courtesies they extended to the Team during its visit. I value the contributions you have made to demonstrate our county-wide commitment to ensuring equity in education for all students.

Sincerely,

"Sufficient" textbooks or instructional materials, or both, is defined in California Education Code Sections 1240 and 60119. Each pupil, including English learners, must have standards-aligned materials to use in class and to take home.

On September 6, 2011, a Williams Team from the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) visited Rise Academy. I write to notify you that the status of the school's instructional materials was found to be compliant with California Education Code, specifically those sections that incorporate the Williams Settlement legislation.

I want to extend my appreciation for the cooperation site and district personnel gave the Williams Site team and the courtesies they extended to the Team during its visit. I value the contributions you have made to demonstrate our county-wide commitment to ensuring equity in education for all students.

Re: Compliance with California Education Code Sections 1240 as Noted in
The 2011 Visit to Fruitvale Elementary School

Dear Superintendent Smith, President Yee, Program Manager Garvin and Principal Edwards:

California Education Code Section 1240 requires county superintendents to visit schools ranked in deciles 1-3 on the 2006 Academic Performance Index (API) to determine if there are sufficient standards-aligned instructional materials in specified areas. "Sufficient" textbooks or instructional materials, or both, is defined in California Education Code Sections 1240 and 60119. Each pupil, including English learners, must have standards-aligned materials to use in class and to take home.

On September 8, 2011, a Williams Team from the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) visited Fruitvale Elementary School. I write to notify you that the status of the school's instructional materials was found to be compliant with California Education Code, specifically those sections that incorporate the Williams Settlement legislation.

I want to extend my appreciation for the cooperation site and district personnel gave the Williams Site team and the courtesies they extended to the Team during its visit. I value the contributions you have made to demonstrate our county-wide commitment to ensuring equity in education for all students.

Re: Compliance with California Education Code Sections 1240 as Noted in
The 2011 Visit to Emerson Elementary School

Dear Superintendent Smith, President Yee, Program Manager Garvin and Principal Hatzke:

California Education Code Section 1240 requires county superintendents to visit schools ranked in deciles 1-3 on the 2006 Academic Performance Index (API) to determine if there are sufficient standards-aligned instructional materials in specified areas. "Sufficient" textbooks or instructional materials, or both, is defined in California Education Code Sections 1240 and 60119. Each pupil, including English learners, must have standards-aligned materials to use in class and to take home.

On September 26, 2011, a Williams Team from the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE) visited Emerson Elementary School. I write to notify you that the status of the school's instructional materials was found to be compliant with California Education Code, specifically those sections that incorporate the Williams Settlement legislation.

I want to extend my appreciation for the cooperation site and district personnel gave the Williams Site team and the courtesies they extended to the Team during its visit. I value the contributions you have made to demonstrate our county-wide commitment to ensuring equity in education for all students.

Sincerely,

Naomi Eason, Ed. D
