Statement of Qualifications

Program Overview

Mills Teacher Scholars, a project of Mills College School of Education, is an innovative teacher professional development program that provides tools and support to teams of K-12 East Bay urban public school teachers, guiding them to change their instruction to more effectively address their students' learning needs. The goal of Mills Teacher Scholars is to create and support teacher learning communities that enhance teachers' abilities to collect and collaboratively analyze their students' work to improve practice and enhance the learning outcomes of the more than 3500 low-income children served by the 110 teachers in the Mills Teacher Scholars project.

Unlike most other professional development programs that focus on supporting teacher practice in general, Mills Teacher Scholar is designed to build the teacher's ability to gather and analyze student learning data. Teachers frame a question about their students' learning, which they pursue by gathering classroom data. As they analyze those data and become smarter about the learning challenges their students face, they are prepared to alter their teaching practice to better meet their students' needs. This results in opening new learning opportunities and ultimately better academic outcomes for students. Learning to frame questions, plan teaching that will make student learning visible, collect and analyze data from students in a systematic way are all essential teaching skills of high quality teaching. To develop our approach we draw on the model of the scholarship of teaching developed by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as well as on Dr. Richert's experience from over two decades of preparing Mills College teacher credential candidates and leading teacher research projects for Bay Area teachers. Like Carnegie, the Mills Teacher Scholars Program recognizes the expertise of teachers and the importance of developing that expertise over the teacher's career.

The collaborative nature of the Mills Teacher Scholars inquiry work and our distributed leadership approach supports developing effective teacher leaders and builds the capacity for authentic, sustainable professional learning communities. It also supports teacher retention. In 2012-2013 Mills Teacher Scholars is working with over 110 urban public schoolteachers in teacher teams from fourteen schools across the East Bay in San Lorenzo, San Leandro, Oakland, Berkeley, Emeryville and West Contra Costa.
