2023-24 Measure N Carryover Plan	N/A	N/A	Computers: Purchase iMac computers for the VAPA Pathway English, History, and Science classes. Integrating iMac desktop computers into the English, History, and Science departments will significantly enhance student learning by aligning with the Arts, Media, and Entertainment (AME) Career Technical Education (CTE) standards. These standards emphasize digital literacy, media production, research, and interdisciplinary collaboration—critical components of modern education within an AME pathway. iMacs support multimedia research, analysis, and production, enabling students to engage in projects that require critical reading, digital storytelling, documentary filmmaking, and data visualization. English students can develop digital essays and video critiques, history students can create interactive timelines and podcasts, and science students can use software for data visualization and simulation-based learning. In addition, visual arts students can leverage iMacs for digital painting, animation, and 3D modeling. In contrast, multimedia students can create motion graphics, special effects, and interactive media projects using software like Adobe Creative Suite, Blender, and Procreate. Investing in iMac desktop computers ensures students develop technical proficiency and creative expression while fostering collaboration across disciplines. Exposure to industry-standard equipment will prepare students for success in media arts careers and higher education, as they will graduate with digital portfolios that demonstrate their skills. Using iMacs also provides equitable access to cutting-edge technology, enabling all students to develop essential technical skills regardless of personal resources. With iMacs, students can integrate video production with visual art by designing promotional materials, storyboards, and immersive digital experiences.	$7,203.95

			As the AME industry evolves, providing students with state-of-the-art tools will ensure they remain competitive in an increasingly digital world. This investment aligns with CTE standards, enhances digital literacy, and prepares students for creative and technical careers, making it an essential step toward modernizing the educational experience in the AME pathway. Conditionally approved pending review of Measure N supporting documents.
