Overview of Service Changes and Data Utilization Strategy

Introduction:

In an effort to enhance the effectiveness of our interventions and tailor them to the evolving needs of our student population, we are proposing significant changes in our service model and data analysis approach. This document outlines the rationale behind these changes, highlighting the importance of a data-driven approach. By leveraging historical and current data, our aim is to gain a deeper understanding of the long-term trends and impacts of our interventions, thereby enabling us to refine and improve our strategies over time. The focus is on creating a robust framework that not only assesses past performances but also guides future programming decisions. This document serves as a comprehensive overview of our planned methodologies and the expected outcomes from these changes.

Why We Need the Data:

Our decision to analyze past participant data stems from the necessity to understand the long-term efficacy of our interventions. Over the past six years, various strategies have been implemented to support our students, but without a systematic analysis of their long-term impacts, it's challenging to gauge their effectiveness. By examining historical data, we can identify patterns and trends that may not be immediately apparent in short-term observations. This analysis will provide invaluable insights into how our interventions have influenced student behavior and program outcomes over an extended period. Ultimately, this historical perspective will empower us to make informed decisions about how to adapt our strategies to be more effective and relevant.

Plans for Data Utilization:

The primary objective of our data utilization plan is to conduct a thorough analysis of attendance records from various timeframes—before, during, and after the implementation of our interventions. By doing so, we aim to identify critical indicators and thresholds that may necessitate more focused or intensive interventions. This comparative approach will allow us to determine the direct impact of our strategies on student attendance and engagement. Furthermore, by correlating these attendance patterns with the success rates of our interventions, we will be better positioned to customize our approaches to cater to the unique needs of different student demographics. This tailored approach is expected to enhance the overall effectiveness of our programs.

Analysis Methods:

1. Descriptive Analysis: Our first step involves conducting an in-depth descriptive analysis to establish foundational understanding of the data. This will include calculating basic statistical measures such as means and standard deviations, which will provide an initial overview of the trends and patterns present in the data.
2. Comparative Analysis: We will then engage in a comparative analysis of attendance records across different time periods. This approach is crucial in evaluating the impact of our interventions and understanding how student attendance has evolved in relation to our program implementations.
3. Regression Analysis: To delve deeper into the factors influencing student attendance, regression analysis will be utilized. This method will allow us to explore the relationship between various variables, such as demographic information and program participation, and how they correlate with changes in attendance.
4. Predictive Modeling: Moving beyond our current use of simple sheet formulas, we plan to employ advanced statistical techniques to develop predictive models. These models will help us identify students who are most likely to benefit from early intervention, based on a range of factors including attendance patterns.
5. Time Series Analysis: For data that spans several years, time series analysis will be crucial in understanding and forecasting long-term trends. This method will enable us to predict future attendance patterns and intervention outcomes, aiding in proactive decision-making.

Conclusion:

The implementation of these data analysis methods marks a significant step forward in our commitment to delivering impactful and relevant interventions to our students. By harnessing the power of data, we are equipping ourselves with the tools necessary to make more informed decisions, tailor our interventions more effectively, and ultimately improve the educational outcomes for our students. This document outlines a clear and detailed roadmap for our data utilization and analysis strategy, setting the stage for enhanced program effectiveness and long-term success.

The Oakland Natives Give Back Fund, Inc. During the course of this agreement, ONGB staff will partner with local OUSD schools to implement the Every Day Counts Attendance Challenge and out Kindergarten Attendance Challenge to raise student and parent awareness of the importance of daily school attendance. ONGB may also provide other attendance and enrollment outreach and support at the request of OUSD, including but not limited to outreach to chronically absent OUSD students.

Every Day Counts Attendance Challenge. The EDCAC is a district-wide attendance challenge open to students attending Oakland Public Schools in grades K-12, to enter a drawing for a monthly cash prize that serves as an incentive for good to perfect attendance. Students with good attendance for each round can compete for a chance to win $500 each round and/or up-to $100 for each bonus day. Kindergarten Attendance Challenge: The Kindergarten Challenge is a collaborative effort between Oakland Natives Give Back, the California Department of Education, and Californians Dedicated to Education Foundation. The priority objectives of the program are to help young students entering school systems and their families to develop the healthy habit of attending school every day by cultivating a strong culture of learning, fostering a connected community of young scholars, and most importantly providing awareness on the importance of attending school EVERY SINGLE DAY. Secondly, by implementing the Kindergarten Challenge Program and providing resources for families, we hypothesize that parents will elect to enroll their children in participating schools/

EXHIBIT A

1) Anticipated Use of Data: Describe the purpose for which the Recipient seeks access to the OUSD Data identified in Exhibit B.

The Oakland Natives Give Back Fund (ONGB) is a non-profit organization committed to addressing chronic absenteeism to ensure students are on the right path for academic achievement and graduation. Our organization is requesting data to understand the impact of our programs on attendance outcomes within OUSD partner schools. We created the Attendance Learning Institute (ALI), to further examine the policies that promote culturally responsive best practices to combat chronic absenteeism rates. ALI features the one program that has a broad district-wide reach: The Every Day Counts Attendance challenge registers students at schools for a monthly cash prize that serves as an incentive for perfect to good attendance. During the 2018-2019 school year ONGB registered over 7000 students attending 82 schools for this challenge. The Kindergarten Attendance Challenge ONGB plans to continue tracking the progress of these students enrolled in the OUSD system as well as newly registered students enrolled between 2022-23, 2023-24 and 2024-25 school years.

In addition to the data elements mentioned in Exhibit B, we request a listing of all students who were chronically absent for the 2021-2022 school year. Our goal is to have this information be made available 60-45 days prior to the start of each school year for targeted student outreach for the upcoming school year. The listing should represent students participating in ONGB programming for which we have parental consent. It should also include a roster of students who are not participating in ONGB programming. This list will be used to extend attendance-related resources and as a comparison group in future program assessments.

The requested data will allow us to review the following: 1) the extent to which there are attendance improvements for students registered in our program at each of our partner schools and 2) the extent to which school-wide awareness-raising activities improved attendance at the school level. Our guiding research questions for the Every Day Counts Attendance Challenge and the Kindergarten Attendance Challenge include the following:

- Is there an association between ONGB school-wide awareness-raising events and the attendance patterns of the overall school?
- Is there an association between ONGB incentives and the attendance patterns of students registered for the Every Day Counts Attendance Challenge?
- Is there an association between the attendance patterns of students who received the Every Day Counts Attendance and Kindergarten Attendance Challenge programming in comparison to other students within OUSD schools of similar demographics and grade levels. \

ONGB requests that
