Did you satisfy the CELDT requirement? YES

Students with a home language that is not English must take the California English Language Development Test (CELDT). This test tells students how they are doing in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Students in grades 3 through 12 need an overall score of 4 or 5, with no less than a 3 in listening, speaking, reading, and writing to be reclassified.

	Listening	Speaking	Reading	Writing	Overall
2012-13	1 - Beginning	1 - Beginning	1 - Beginning	1 - Beginning	1 - Beginning

Are you becoming a proficient reader?

The Scholastic Reading Inventory (SRI) is a test that tells students how well they are reading. The SRI measures reading comprehension with a Lexile score and Lexile grade. Your performance on this test is important because the results are used to help us identify if you are ready for reclassification.

Teachers may also use results from Fountas & Pinnell (F&P) or the Developmental Reading Assessment (DRA) as supporting evidence to help determine if you are ready for reclassification. Both tests provide additional information about your reading abilities.

Will you pass your teacher evaluation?

If you meet the other reclassification requirements, your teachers will need to give the final approval. One way your teacher will decide is based on your Reading and Writing report card grades. You will need at least a 2, Approaching Proficiency, to reclassify.
