Think China 2014

The Second Annual Northern California Delegation of the China-United States Exchange Foundation

Think China 2014

•Fourteen African American male high school and college students, representing Alameda County, were selected to participate in the first My Brother's Keeper Northern California delegation of the China-U.S. Study Exchange Foundation (CUSEF) – Think China 2014. The delegation traveled to Beijing, Hangzhou and Shanghai – on a cross-cultural academic, civic, business oriented tour – from July 5– 19, 2014. Think China's program objectives were to inspire global learning, and strengthen relations, between the Chinese and African Americans.

•CUSEF is a non-profit organization in China whose mission is to enhance relationships between China and the United States via study exchange programs. Through various initiatives, the National Urban League (NUL) and CUSEF have facilitated African American-focused visits to experience Chinese culture. Think China builds upon the NUL experiences as an empowerment tool for both business and education, focused on a new audience – the high school student.

•EOYDC's youth led college mentoring model – demonstrated by the college mentors facilitated a linked learning opportunity sharing actualized college experience and its application to many of the field studies and ultimately a new set of career options.

Pre-Travel Leadership Training

- The Think China curriculum and program platform focused on four key areas: academics, civic engagement, cultural immersion, business and industry
- In preparation for the trip to China, the delegation participated in a series of pre-travel leadership training activities. The activities provide an introduction to Chinese history and culture, public policy, professional development, and team building. The Chinatown Chamber of Commerce, the Consulate General of China, Dress for Success, and the White House Initiative on the Educational Excellence of African Americans are among the Think China pre- travel leadership training partners
