Dear Mark, Ron and David,

It is hard to believe that the year has gone so fast. It has been a pleasure to work with OUSD teachers throughout the year on the global competence pilot project. Below are the goals from last year's work:

- Design and implement a project-based unit that helps students build their global competencies.
- Design lessons and activities that support students to develop the global competencies.
- Work with a small cohort of OUSD teachers to support design and implementation of the unit and lessons.
- Participate in a Lesson Study with OUSD colleagues in small cohorts implementing, observing, and analyzing a collaboratively designed lesson.

We have been pleased with the strong feedback that we have received this year from the teachers. Currently, one group of teachers are in the middle of teaching their unit and the others are beginning their units in early May. In a few weeks, we will be able to share with you a summative report on this year's project, including surveys and interviews with teachers.

Please note that this pilot and next year's proposal is different from our World Savvy Classrooms Program (several OUSD teachers participated in the World Savvy Classrooms Program this year). The World Savvy Classrooms Program is more focused on student competency development and culminates each year with a festival for students to share their work. Our work this year and the proposal below are focused on teacher growth and development and provides teachers with more in-depth support throughout the school year. We certainly welcome any OUSD to participate in our World Savvy Classrooms Program, as well!

Below you will find a proposal to extend and deepen the project for next year. We have learned a lot throughout this year and feel confident that we can continue to provide a strong experience involving more OUSD teachers. The proposal reflects our conversations in the last several weeks with Jeannie Kohl; Young Whan Choi; Herberta Zulueta, the Middle School Science Coordinator; and Krishna Feeney, the Assistant Principal of Montera Middle School.

The budget reflects the total cost for the project. We may have a grant from the Haas Foundation that could be applied to a percentage of the costs for next year's program.

We look forward to continuing our work together. Please feel free to contact me to discuss further.
