Reflections on 2024-2025 so far

Highlighting progress:

- Transition:
 - Two pathways (Tech and Health) to one pathway Design, Visual, Media Arts
- Addition of Dual Enrollment class:
 - Adobe Photoshop Basics
 - Offered to all students
 - Directly related to new Design, Visual, Media Arts Pathway
- Increase of whole staff teacher buy-in:
 - Unified set of Rudsdale classroom expectations
 - Supporting language development, literacy, projects, and pathway alignment
 - Implementation of whole staff design tutorials
- Work Based Learning as a part of Graduation portfolio requirement
 - All graduating seniors had a college or career experience that they reflected on
 - Work Based Learning Plan

Reflections on 2024-25 so far

Challenges:

- Accurate data collection and recording of student WBL experiences
 - Under-representation of students' WBL experiences
 - Creating the form was helpful and now continuing to work on a system to accurately record student experiences into the database
- Address equity gaps in participation
 - While all students are informed and encouraged to participate in college & career readiness events and activities, not all students do
 - Become more intentional by inviting students to participate, especially for their area of interest, in addition to broad announcements to all students
- Expanding post-secondary awareness options for students
 - Dispel misunderstandings of college and career options
 - Expand the college and career team to meet our growing school population: additional counselor and a specific position supporting college and career awareness
 - Plan more targeted college and career events and WBL opportunities with industry professionals and Peralta colleges

Rudsdale Academy of Art & Design (RAAD)

Looking Ahead to 25-26

Insights for further development:

- More student access and experience with digital design skills in classes
 - Staff excitement = more pathway aligned projects for students
 - Further development of staff skills with peer-led workshops, coaching, and external learning opportunities
 - Further encouragement for all adult learners, despite hesitation
- Dual Enrollment alignment with trimester system
 - Offering opportunities for all students during school day to support engagement and experience with college courses
 - Supporting A-G requirements acquisition in an alternative education setting
- Creating a College and Career Center
 - O Centralized hub for all students to access support and information about career and college exploration and options
 - Hosting workshops for college applications, enrollment, and financial aid with Peralta partners
 - Space to support career investigation with industry professional guest speakers

Continuation School Equity Question

High Schools: Measure N funding based on student enrollment

Continuation High Schools: Measure N funding

based on attendance

Equity Question for the Committee:

Why are continuation school students, who are unquestionably our district's neediest students, provided less fiscal support by Measure N than students in comprehensive schools?

THANK YOU Questions?
