Support Basic Equality for Disabled Students

We must stop the practice of forcibly removing disabled students from their schools to close or repurpose their Special Education classrooms. Disabled students must be able to attend the school to which they enroll for the entirety of that school's grade span, just like their non-disabled peers.

Resolution No. 2526-0181–School Stability and Belonging for Disabled Students in OUSD was supposed to be discussed at the November meeting of the Teaching and Learning Committee before going up to a vote at the School Board meeting.

Outcomes from Literacy Investments & Interventions (Presentation)

Jennifer Blake, Special Education Executive Director

6:45 pm, 25 minutes

OUSD's Special Education Literacy Investments

In addition to services and supports available within the general education system, students with IEPs may participate in two different types of evidence-based literacy intervention:

Grades K-5

SPIRE

Grades 6-12

Lexia PowerUp

How do students access Special Education literacy intervention?

The student has iReady literacy data showing a need for phonics and overall reading ability 2+ years below grade level assignment and/or

The student has an IEP goal that addresses foundational literacy skills grounded in a disability-specific need

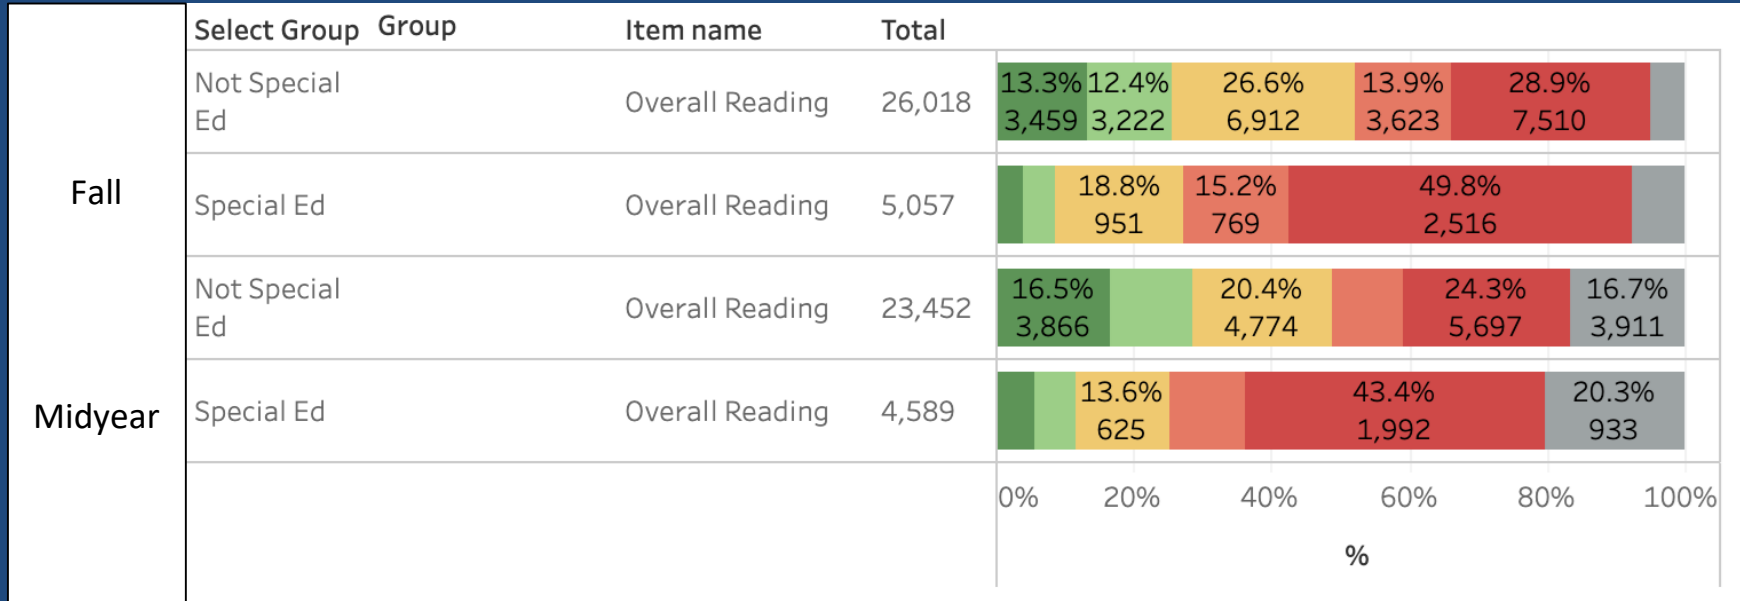

Grounding iReady Data

What is iReady?

iReady is the district's adopted platform for diagnostic and benchmark assessment of students. OUSD uses iReady to measure literacy levels and progress across grades K-12, and it's used for math in grades K-5, as well.

In reading, iReady measures a student's overall abilities in phonics and comprehension and provides information about how close a student is to grade level performance, along with their rate of progress and growth.

iReady Literacy Data

Across all grades, students with IEPs are more likely to read two or more grade levels below their grade than students without IEPs. Over three months, students with IEPs 2+ grade levels behind decreased by 10.5%. However, missed testing means about 20% of all students in this group have no midyear test score yet.

iReady Literacy Data

Grades K-5 show less of a discrepancy between general education and special education iReady scores, but many students are still reading below grade level. Students in grades K-5 with IEPs increased at or above grade level scores by 5.2% between August and November.

An example of a phonics data wall for a third-grade class iReady allows OUSD staff to have data tools to show us which groups of students still need phonics support. We can use these data walls to make decisions about which students should be targeted for additional intervention.

iReady Typical and Stretch Growth

Typical Growth

This refers to the growth a student is expected to make in a standard school year. This is a good target for students who are already performing within one grade of their assigned grade level.

Stretch Growth

This is the target that is needed to close gaps by growing more than one year in a standard school year.

This is a good target for students performing 2+ grade levels below their assigned grade level to allow them to access grade level content more effectively over time.

Our Literacy Goals for 2025-26

By May, 2026:

-90% of K-YA students in moderate and Extensive Support Needs programs will engage with TeachTown Basics Intervention at the rate recommended by the publisher

-95% of K-5 MM & RSP teachers will use SPIRE Star, as measured by data collection from the platform at each trimester

-80% of 6-12 MM and RSP teachers will use Lexia PowerUp, as measured by data collection through Lexia PowerUp system.

-42% of K-12 students with mild-moderate needs will meet annual “typical growth” and “stretch growth” targets on iReady ELA, as compared to 2024-25 data.

Literacy Goal Midyear Progress Report

-90% of K-YA students in moderate and Extensive Support Needs programs will engage with TT Basics Intervention at the rate recommended by the publisher

- For the Fall benchmark, an average of ⅓ of ESN teachers completed TeachTown benchmark data for their caseloads. While this represents modest progress over last year, we have more work to do to approach our goal by the Spring benchmark.

-95% of K-5 MM & RSP teachers will use SPIRE Star, as measured by data collection from the platform at each trimester

- We are not close to meeting this goal. Many teachers are preferring to use the paper version of Spire.

Literacy Goal Midyear Progress Report

-80% of 6-12 MM and RSP teachers who teach ELA/reading will use Lexia PowerUp, as measured by data collection through Lexia PowerUp system.

- 6-8 75% of MM and RSP teachers who teach ELA/reading are using Lexia PowerUp on a regular basis (weekly or every other week). Current focus is increasing the usage per week and usage with more of their caseload. We are on track to meet this goal.

-42% of K-12 students with mild-moderate needs will meet annual “typical growth” and “stretch growth” targets on iReady ELA, as compared to 2024-25 data.

- 45.7% of students with IEPs have met their typical growth benchmark for the midpoint of the year, and 33% have met their stretch growth benchmark. We are on pace to meet or exceed our goal by May.

All About Spire

What is the structure of these interventions?

SPIRE

Spire is a structured, staff-led, multisensory literacy program. It has six levels that start with identifying consonant sounds and move through more advanced blends and digraphs. Most students engage with Spire in a small group, either in their resource time or as a part of their self-contained program's literacy block.

Lessons follow a consistent ten-step format. In Oakland, we recommend that students receive a full lesson per week, broken into two segments, with an opportunity for a short skill assessment each week.

Spire can have an AI-driven digital reading tool alongside it called the Amira Reading Assistant. Amira is a 1:1 computer-based program that helps with targeted practice to address skill gaps.

Spire's publisher, EPS, has a dashboard that allows staff to view student's recent assessments at each level. This is an example from East Oakland Pride with one row for each student. As students progress through the levels, they have more assessments to show. When a student reaches level six, they no longer need Spire and are considered to have mastered phonics.

Viewing Spire Progress Data

Staff can dig deeper into patterns of errors and can ensure students are reducing errors and increasing mastery over time.

Seven errors or fewer on a level assessment is the threshold for a student to move on.

Phonograms	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3a	Level 3b	Level 4	Level 5
0	6	15
1	9	21
0	5	2	6	13

In the data set at left for four students, the first student has mastered Level 1, the second student is still working on phonological awareness, the third student has mastered Level 3a, and the last student has mastered Level 4.

Individual assessments show which words were missed so teachers and staff can go back to reinforce skill gaps. In the sample data from a student at EOP shown at left, for example, the level assessment shows that the student needs more work with the long e and long o sounds but has mastered many other word families.

SPIRE Pacing

5 days per week, ½ lesson per day

- Steps 1-4 are completed the first day
- Steps 5-10 completed the second day

Two full lessons per week expected, with a short assessment included for day five

Takes approximately 6-7 months to complete a level. Students are expected to complete about two levels per school year

SPIRE Student Progress

Consistent SPIRE instruction works!

- 68% of students receiving SPIRE tutoring moved up at least 1 level from August to December
- 35% of students receiving SPIRE tutoring moved up at least 2 levels from August to December
- These students are making accelerated growth beyond standard expectations (see previous slide)

What's Next for Spire

Short-Term Next Steps (Jan-Jun)

- SPIRE training January 5 (full day, in person)
- SPIRE PD every other 4th Wednesday (1.5 hours, Zoom)
- Compare SPIRE data with iReady data
- Ongoing meetings with SpEd literacy tutors' supervisors to review data

Mid-Term Next Steps (2026-27 SY)

- The Special Education Department intends to sunset Spire in Summer 2026 and move to UFLI as the core product for tier III intervention.
- Special Education will collaborate with General Education Academics Department leadership to ensure Special Educators are trained and confident prior to transition.
- This movement allows site leaders to better support Special Educators in ensuring quality literacy intervention. Fewer products can bring more consistent intervention.

Explaining Proposed 2026-27 Literacy Program Changes

Why move to UFLI instead of Spire?

- The Special Education Department adopted Spire when there was no evidence-based intervention available district-wide in general education. We're in a different place now, and alignment offers lots of opportunities and benefits.
- OUSD has multiple reading programs operating simultaneously. This lowers folks' ability to reach mastery because there are too many curricula.
- UFLI is developed with the same evidence-based methodology as Spire, or Lindamood-Bell, or Orton-Gillingham, or Wilson reading, etc. Our data suggest that the growth we see is not unique to Spire but rather attributed to high-dose intervention with a trained, consistent provider.

All About Lexia

What is the structure of these interventions?

Lexia PowerUp

Lexia is a literacy acceleration program specifically designed for adolescent and teen struggling readers. This is a blended learning program, which means that students engage in online learning that is tailored based on their present levels for some of their time and participate in teacher-led small groups for some of the time. Teacher small groups are based on the skills each student is still struggling to master in the online program.

On the back end, Lexia's platform collects data about students' accuracy, growth, and error patterns to adjust the next lessons. The tool includes parent/caregiver reports that can be shared at progress reporting periods.

We just started using Lexia this year.

Feasibility Study for Non-Public School in OUSD Properties

Staff will begin working to strategically organize the areas listed above into a comprehensive implementation plan.

Following are the sections of that plan:

1. Central Office Staffing Reductions. This includes:
elimination or reduction of positions, adjustments to employee work calendars, restructuring & consolidating teams, vacancy freezes, hiring pauses, reducing overtime & substitute labor costs, and reducing stipends/extra-duty assignments

2. School Site Budget Adjustments. This includes:
reductions to LCFF site discretionary funds, decreases in per-pupil allocations, cuts to school-based program budgets such as athletics, clubs, and library services; enrollment-based allocation adjustments

3. Contracted Services. This includes:

scaling back curriculum and instructional contracts; professional development vendors; technology service providers; transportation vendors, security and campus safety contracts, mental health and behavioral support providers; contractors across custodial, landscaping, HVAC, and trades; and consulting and strategic planning engagements.

It also includes: districtwide freeze on discretionary spending, halt new contracted services unless explicitly approved; review and approval of contracts through a centralized process involving the Superintendent; fast-track approval process for time-sensitive contracts related to special education, legally required services, and after-school programming.

4. Program and Services Adjustments. This includes:

reduction or consolidation of certain academic programs; pausing or reduction of wellness initiatives, employee recognition events, and retirement celebrations.

It also includes: narrowing or reducing recruitment and employee support programs, including teacher residencies, apprenticeships, and other pipeline investments; academic internships, mentorships, and apprenticeship opportunities; specialized instructional programs; family engagement initiatives; and leadership development offerings.

5. Materials and Supplies. This includes:

only essential purchases of classroom materials and office supplies; extending the replacement cycles for technology equipment; constrained supply budgets for custodial and maintenance teams; slowing or postponing planned textbook adoptions and curriculum replacement cycles.

6. Operations and Facilities. This includes:

extending maintenance and custodial schedules; deferring non-critical repairs; implementing energy-reduction strategies to lower utility expenses; consolidating transportation routes; pursuing additional utilities savings through conservation measures.

This may also include:

facility closures, co-locations, or consolidations based on utilization and enrollment trends; updates to facilities rental rates and fee structures; reduction of ground maintenance to only the essential services.

7. Structural and Long Term Savings. This includes:
reviewing and adjusting key policies and operational practices—such as bell schedules, class size initiatives, and transportation; evaluating school site mergers and potential closures; closure or repurposing of underutilized central office buildings; reviewing summer learning and extended day program structures.

8. Revenue and Funding Adjustments. This includes:
tighter alignment between staffing, services, and actual enrollment; rebalancing the use of restricted and unrestricted funds; ensuring that programs funded with expiring or limited grants are either right-sized or transitioned appropriately
